Countywide Prayer for Rain Set Thursday in Churches, Schools

Believing that the best way to get rain for this area is to pray for help, a group of Randall County citizens initiated a county-wide Prayer for Rain session from 10 a. m. until 11 a. m. Thursday.

The prayer sessions will be held in various churches in the county and observances will be held in the public schools and during the annual Senior Day assembly at West Texas State College.

Business in Canyon will close during the services to allow everyone who desires to attend a church for the prayers.

In an organization meeting Tuesday afternoon, ministers of various churches endorsed the plan and those at the meeting volunteered to call every telephone listed in the Canyon-Umbarger-Cleta telephone directory to invite the subscribers to the prayer session.

Endorsed by those ministers who attended the meeting, the Chamber of Commerce and several businessmen, the prayer session is similar to the prayers for rain held here two summers ago.

At that time, the prayer sessions were held on the courthouse lawn on Sunday afternoon, and after several sessions, a good rain fell.

Mayor Hosea Foster issued a proclamation endorsing the Prayer for Rain, and urged every citizen of the county to attend the church of his choice for the session.

Business houses which close for the service are asked to put a sign in the door telling why the store is closed, and inviting everyone to attend the church of his choice.

A county-wide observance of the Prayer for Rain is asked. Those who can't attend a church are asked to offer a private prayer for rain during the hour.

PROCLAMATION OF A PRAYER FOR RAIN

WHEREAS:
Rainfall in Randall County has been extremely light for the past several years, with the result of drouth conditions for the entire community and undue hardships for many of the county's citizens, and

WHEREAS:
Several of the citizens of the county and businessmen of Canyon have asked the cooperation of the clergy in a mass session of prayer for rain, and

WHEREAS:
We believe that the cooperation of the entire citizenship of the county will benefit both spiritually and economically from prayer,

THEREFORE:
I hereby designate the hour from 10 a. m. until 11 a. m. Thursday, May 17, as an hour of re-dedication and Prayer for Rain, and urge all citizens of Randall County and Canyon to attend the church of their choice to participate in the Prayer for Rain.

Building Contracts Awarded

$186,000 TO BE TOTAL COST

Contracts for the construction of a courthouse annex in Canyon and a branch tax office in South Amarillo were awarded to two Amarillo firms by the Randall County Commissioners Court Monday.

Three additional contracts for heating and air conditioning, an elevator and jail equipment were also awarded for the courthouse annex here. Total contracts for the annex are $147,422, and for the tax office, $38,689.

Low-bidding general contractor for the tax building was Panhandle Engineering and Construction.

The low general contractor was Neil Singleton Building Contractor with a bid of $95,765. The elevator contract was given to Elevator Service Company of Fort Worth with a bid of $7,127; the jail equipment contract to Southern Steel Company of San Antonio with a bid of $32,750; and the heating and air conditioning bid to Plains Plumbing Company of Amarillo with a bid of $11,780.

Construction of the courthouse annex should begin soon and the completion date bid by Singleton was 180 days after the start of construction.

Building of the tax office should begin late this month and is expected to be finished in 100 days.

One sub-contract on both buildings, that for plumbing, was awarded by the general contractors to Curtis Plumbing Company of Canyon.

The total of the contracts for both buildings was slightly over the estimate of the commissioners court and the architect, L. A. Kerr, of Amarillo. They had expected to build the two for $185,000, with $150,000 for the courthouse annex and $35,000 for the tax office. The combined contract total was $186,111.

Eleven bids were received for the general contract of the tax office building. The Panhandle Engineering and Construction bid was low, and the high bid was $47,138 from S. S. Gray Company.

Ten bids were received for the general contract for the courthouse annex. The Singleton bid was low and second low was $95,822 from Timmons Construction Company of Amarillo. High bid was $115,200 from Tri-State Construction Company.

Only two bids were received for the elevator contract, two for the jail equipment and three for the heating and air conditioning. The low bid was accepted in each case.

The courthouse annex will house the sheriff's department, jail, offices for the justice of the peace and highway patrol and dormitories for both male and female jurors.

Orchestra Concert Slated Thursday

West Texas State College's 50-piece orchestra, largest in the college's history, will be presented Thursday at 8 p. m. in its annual concert. The program, in the Administration Building auditorium, is open to the public.

Directed by William O. Latson, assistant professor of music, and David Kaplan, instructor in woodwinds, the program is one of the initial events of WT's commencement.

A 30-piece string ensemble will play two numbers, "Overture" to "The Messiah" by Handel and "Air and Allegro" by Leclaire. The Woodwind Choir, directed by Kaplan, will play Mozart's "Serenade for Winds" and Emile Bernard's "Divertissimo."

Concluding the program, the orchestra will present "French Baroque Suite" by Lully and "Finlandia" by Sebelius.

Dr. G. E. Kiser Leaves College

Resignation of Dr. G. E. Kiser, chairman of the School of Business Administration at West Texas State College, was announced Tuesday by President James P. Cornette.

Dr. Kiser will become head of the department of economics and business administration at Texas Western College of the University of Texas in July. He has been at WT since July, 1955.

A graduate of the University of Texas where he received his M.B.A. and Ph.D. degrees, Dr. Kiser came to WT directly from Austin where he was professor of management.

He was an instructor in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit before joining the college of business there.

Dr. Kiser was assistant traffic manager for the Crown Central Petroleum Corporation and personnel and confidential records supervisor for E. I. du Pont de Nemours plants before going to the University of Texas.

Civil Defense Meeting Slated

Capt. J. W. Blackwell of the Texas Highway Patrol announced a meeting for the purpose of organizing the police officers of the 26 Panhandle counties into a Police Civil Defense and Disaster Relief organization for Friday.

This meeting, scheduled from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., will be held in the classroom of the Amarillo Police Department.

CANYON FFA TAKES AWARDS

Members of the Canyon High School Future Farmers of America chapter cleaned out the awards at the Area I FFA convention at Monterrey High School in Lubbock Saturday.

Foster Parker was awarded the American Farmer degree during the convention. Meade Humphries, Jerome Edwards, Jack Campbell and Arvle Marshall were given State Farmer degrees.

Campbell was given the Area I Star State Farmer award and Humphries the Area I Star Dairy Farmer award. Humphries also was given the Soil and Water Management award.

Marshall took both the State and National FFA Farm Electrification and the Texas Utilities Company Farm Electrification awards.

Parker, area vice president, Campbell, Humphries and Marshall appeared on a television Farm Show in Lubbock.

Also attending the convention were Edward Hinders, area secretary, Garland Ruthart, candidate for state FFA president from this area, T. L. Devin and G. D. Inman. Edwards was voting delegate.

Three of the youths are candidates for scholarships, Hinders for the Farm Bureau scholarship, Ruthart for the Anderson-Clayton cotton scholarship and Marshall for the Frank M. Woods Wildlife scholarship.

Three Flyovers Here Saturday

Three flights of Air Force planes will fly over Canyon on Armed Forces Day, according to information from Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, to the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

The first flight, one of eight F-86's, will be over Canyon at 10:45 a. m. The next two flights will both be of nine B-25's, one at 11:09 a. m. and the other at 1:29 p. m.

Services Conducted For Kate Rogers

Funeral and burial services were conducted Monday in Llano Cemetery, Amarillo, for Mrs. Kate Rogers of Amarillo, mother of Paul Rogers. Blackburn-Shaw was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Rogers, who died Saturday, was 87 years of age. She lived in Wayside in 1880 and moved to Canyon in 1912.

She is survived by her son, Paul, Mrs. Gladys Thompson of Clovis, N. M., and Leslie Rogers of Amarillo.

Pogo for President!

This may seem like the most ridicubobble the-ing, but there ain't no doubt a'tall about its vee-racity.

That young favorite, Pogo—who almost nosed out Eisenhower in 1952—has gone up the stump for his candy-dacy this year. Yessir, he went right to the right-type place here the other day.

That Pogo, he went to the Publications Building at West Texas and stood right up and dee-manded a press conference.

That's what he got all-right-ee. Charles Wright and Dr. Donald Enlow, possum fanciers and good judges of horseflesh, pressed him right into a cage in the biology department and announced they'd be Pogo's campaign managers for Randall County.

Pogo? He's in his campaign headquarters now, standing for nomination.

Canyonites To Attend Association Meeting

Representatives of the Randall County Heart Association will attend a district meeting in Borger Sunday, beginning with a luncheon in the Borger Hotel.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett is president of the Randall County Heart Association. Other officers are Mrs. Ethel Mullins, first vice president; Dr. Ruth Lowes, second vice president; Mrs. Tom Dewey, secretary; Levi Cole, treasurer; and Avent Lair, publicity chairman.

Dr. Bert Masters is a director of the North Plains Association.

$95 GIVEN SATURDAY

It's going to be worth $95 for someone to be in a store at 3 p.m. Saturday.

The third Canyon Bank Day drawing will be announced in participating stores at that time, and if the winner is in one of the stores the $95 bank account will be awarded.

The winners of the first two drawings were not in participating stores, and $30 of the two weekly bank accounts has been added to this week's pot.

Dutch Cleavinger was the winner last week, but received only a $5 consolation prize. Mrs. Lem S. Fisher was the winner the first week, but she got only the $5.

The weekly bank account is $35. When it is not collected, $5 is sent to the winner, and the remaining $30 is added to the drawing for the following week.

Registration blanks are available in 26 participating stores. Entrants should register only one time, in any store, and need not be in that particular store in order to win.

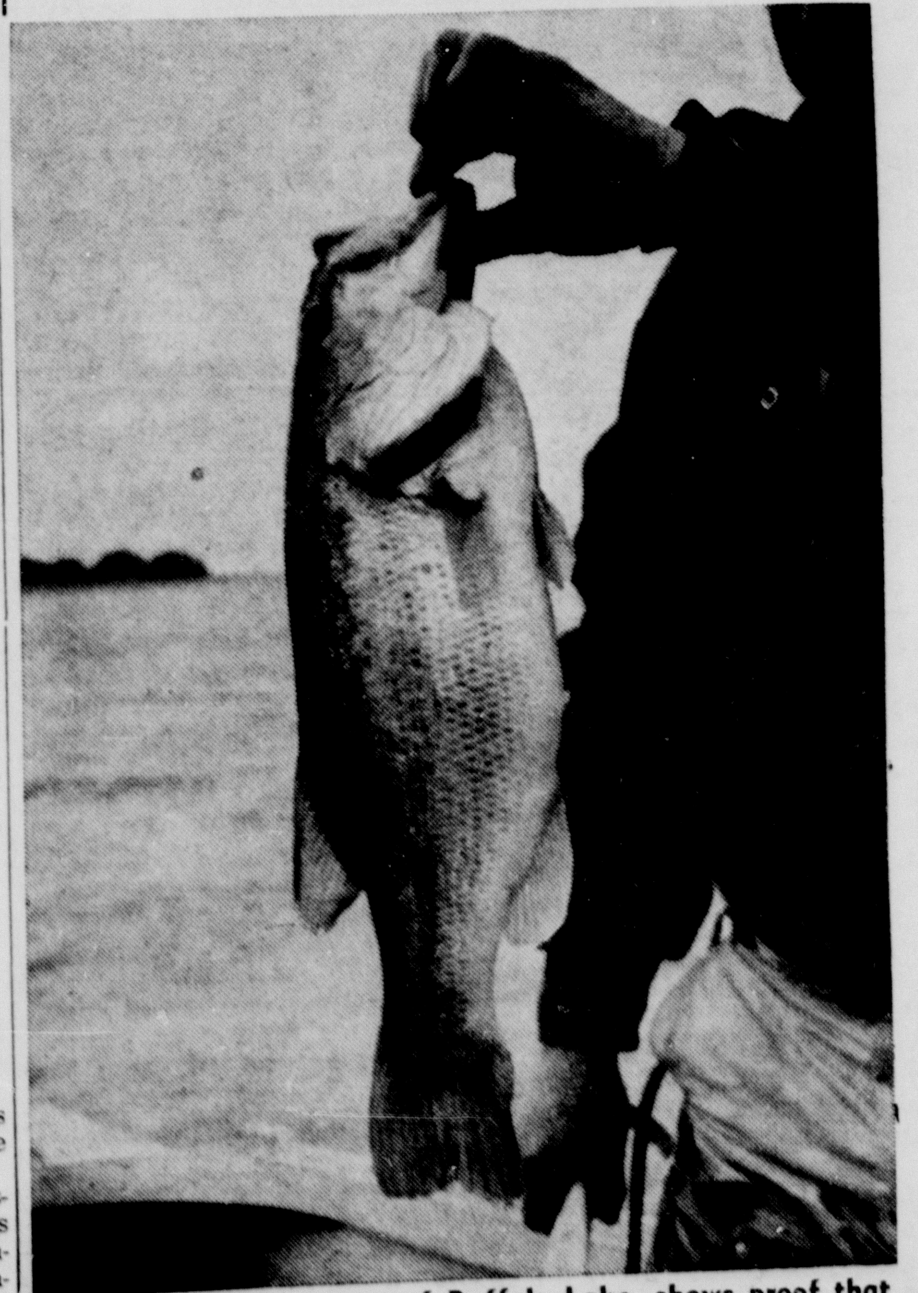
Peggy Hales Voted Delegate to Camp

Peggy Sue Hales was chosen May 5 as delegate to district camp representing Highland 4-H Club.

The selection was made at a meeting in the home of Judy Bourland. The Home Demonstration agent, Mrs. Mona Hildreth, was present and gave a demonstration on making bread muffins.

On May 26, the club will meet in the home of Kay Boydstun.

Fishing Proof



Recil Johnson, manager of Buffalo Lake, shows proof that there really are big fish in the lake. This bass, which measured 17 inches, was netted out of the lake following the poisoning of rough fish last week. The bass was found wallowing on top of the water among hundreds of dying shad.

Billy the Kid's Real Name Henry McCarty, Historical Society Speaker Tells Banquet

The popular legend of Billy the Kid is a hoax foisted on the American public, Frazier Hunt said at the annual dinner meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Friday night.

The author-journalist, who has recently completed a biography of Billy the Kid, said the popular notion that the outlaw's name was William Bonney is a part of that hoax.

Billy the Kid's real name was Henry McCarty, Hunt said. The name William Bonney was an alias used by the outlaw. The number of people he killed, set by legend at 21—his age when killed by Pat Garrett—has been expanded, Hunt said.

During the Kid's later life, practically every killing or outbreak of trouble in New Mexico was attributed to him, regardless of whether he was in that part of the country or not.

Hunt's two-hour speech covered Billy the Kid's life, and he used excerpts from his book as the basis for the speech. The volume will be published in June.

In the annual business meeting of the society Friday afternoon, Henry Sears, member of the board of regents of the Texas State Teachers Colleges and mayor of Hereford, was elected president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo, first vice president; Frank Shaller of Canadian, second vice president; Boone McClure of Canyon, executive secretary; Hattie M. Anderson of Canyon, corresponding secretary; McClure, museum director; Jack Hughes of Canyon, curator of anthropology; Studer, curator of archeology; and Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, curator of art.

Feed Program Extension Given

The drouth emergency feed program for Randall County has been extended.

Owners of foundation herds of cattle and sheep may now make applications for grain. Certificates issued under the provisions of the program enable livestock owners to receive a discount on certain feed grains.

The sign-up period on this extension will run from May 15 until June 8. Applications will not be taken after the June 8 deadline.

The application forms are available in the office of the Randall County Agent.

John Brazzil, Randall County Agent, urges eligible persons to make their applications as soon as possible because each day they are made after May 15 means the feed allowance is reduced by the daily quota.

The feed program is administered by the Farmer's Home Administration with local offices in Amarillo. The FHA Committee in Randall County must approve all applications for eligibility.

Swimming Prices Set by City

Admission prices for the swimming pool in Conner Park were set Monday night by the City Commission.

Season tickets for children 12 and under will be $6. Adult prices for season tickets will be $10. If a child wishes to take swimming lessons, the price will be $8.

Single admission prices will be 20 cents for children 12 and under and 40 cents for adults.

The pool will open June 1. Swimming lessons will start the first of July and will last six weeks. Lessons will be given two mornings each week to each class.

Don Briggs, assistant coach at Canyon High School, will supervise the pool this summer and will teach the swimming lessons.

The city's pool was opened last July and operated about 1½ months after its completion.

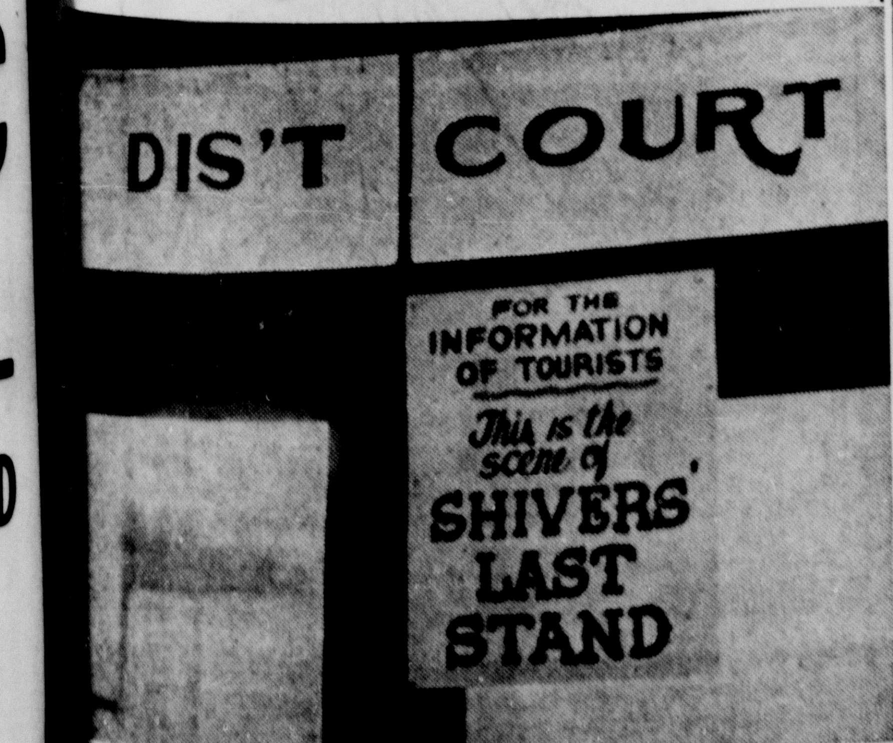
Harrell Relative Succumbs in Tulia

Last rites were read Friday for Mrs. Sadie Barks of Tulia who was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Ed Harrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McElroy, Mrs. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Mye of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reynolds, and Mrs. A. R. Douglas attended the services.

Mrs. Bark's husband preceded her in death three years ago.

Signs of Our Times



This sign, which explains itself, was found Friday morning tacked to the door of the district courtroom, scene of the County Democratic convention May 8.

Plan Commencement Exercises Sunday Afternoon at West Texas

Degrees will be presented to some 230 candidates Sunday at the annual spring commencement exercises of West Texas State College, slated for the second year at 5 p. m. in the college's large field house.

Speaker will be Dr. Oliver S. Willham, president of Oklahoma A & M College. His address will be followed by conferring of degrees.

Graduation ceremonies open with the academic procession of faculty and graduating students. Invocation will be given by the Rev. Lester L. Hill, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon.

Following Dr. Willham's address, the WT Concert Band, conducted by M. J. Newman, will play "North Sea Overture" by Hermann.

President James P. Cornette, assisted by Dr. Walter H. Juniper, dean, and Dr. James L. Russell, graduate dean, will confer the degrees. A total of 184 Bachelors and 46 Masters degrees will be awarded.

Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics with the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit, will hand commissions as second lieutenants in the Army to 23 graduating cadets.

Singing of the Alma Mater, directed by Dr. Houston Bright, associate professor of music, and the recessional will close the exercises.

EDITORIAL

Views and Comments

During the last two weeks there was more entertainment in Canyon than many a larger town has in a month. Most of it was down at the college, although some was uptown.

The college started it off with the Festival of the Arts, staging a band concert, choir concert, art exhibit, opera program for two nights and a play for three nights. The college band had a "pops" concert. The public schools had a Music Festival with concerts by three junior high choirs and the high school choir.

Charlie Donnell was running movies all during the peroid, and one of the grandest of all entertainments was run off in the district courtroom—the county Democratic convention. For those who like dancing, there was a formal dance at the college, too, with live music.

Some of the programs presented carried admission fees, and the shortage of money might have kept many of us from attending all the entertainment—but some of the programs were free of charge.

The only trouble with the whole business was that very few of us availed ourselves of the entertainment. None of the admission-fee programs made money, in fact the break-even point wasn't reached with any striking degree of success.

We in Canyon have no reason to gripe that "there's nothing to do here." Our only basis for griping is that there's not enough time for us to do all we'd like to do.

I ran across a couple of items in the Amarillo papers recently, one a couple of weeks ago and the other just last Thursday. They were widely separated in time and display (one was along with the column Turnstile, and the other in the back of the paper near the classified ads, and with a small headline). But they match up rather well, I think, and they show how the goodhearted people of the nation might do well to keep their eyes open.

The first item was a comparison of the amount of money raised for various diseases and the number of victims of those diseases. The other was an item telling how much one of the organizations fighting one of those diseases has spent on research.

The American Heart Association raised $11.3 million last year to fight heart diseases. For the 12-month period beginning July 1, the association will spend $830,000 on research, and has spent $14 million on research since it was founded in 1948.

There's a fair-sized difference between $11.3 million and $830,000. It might be well for us to know what has happened to the difference. As I remember, one of the chief reasons for the Heart association fund drive is to get money for research into the causes and cures of heart diseases.

I'm not suggesting that someone is making off with the difference, no indeed. But, I am curious enough to wonder, and I believe that the rest of us should be also.

I have a slight horror of the national fund raising associations simply because it's so far from the donor to the spender and so many people in between. It's the same horror that I have of federal aid, Washington is so far from Canyon and the round trip costs so much money.

Amarillo, according to the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, is the "Home of Scenic Palo Duro State Park." At least that's the advertising slug on their mailing machine. I've heard something about moving a mountain to Mohamet or someone, but this is the first instance I've heard of moving a hole in the ground any distance at all.

"The seats of Senators shall be vaccinated every six years," according to a list of class boners printed in The Texas Outlook. It looks to me as if we might be "vaccinating" both of our senators a little off schedule, what with Johnson angling for the Presidency and Daniel angling for the governorship.

Apropos of the recent political conventions in the precincts and the county, the list of class boners also says, "A caucus is a dead animal."

The Game and Fish Commission's experiment with the selective kill of rough fish in Buffalo Lake appears to be highly successful. Leo Lewis, the aquatic biologist who conducted the experiment, said he was pleased with the results and is planning to come back to the lake once a month for the next year to keep checking on results and to poison any spots in the lake which appear to be still infested with rough fish.

Lewis is the recognized expert in the field of poisoning rough fish selectively. Experiments began in 1953 around Wichita Falls, where Lewis is stationed. The first large selective kill was an accident, which occurred when the biologists were trying to poison a single cove in a lake. The wind got up and spread the poison throughout the lake, and the biologists figured it spread a concentration of .2 pounds per acre foot. Lo and behold, it killed most of the shad in the lake and didn't bother the game fish.

Since that time, Lewis and other biologists have been running experiments with various concentrations at various temperatures in laboratories and out in the field. The poisoning of Buffalo Lake is the first really big experiment.

Selective killing with rotenone produces some odd effects, Lewis said. He hasn't found an explanation for all of them. For instance, after carp and shad are killed from a lake, the water, which usually is muddy, clears up and becomes a beautiful blue. Lewis said that a few days after rotenone is spread in the lake, crappie begin biting wildly, and he doesn't know why.

In one report on experiments, Lewis quoted a fisherman around Wichita Falls as saying that spreading rotenone is like "giving a lake a spring tonic."

At any rate, the fishing in Buffalo Lake should be better this year than ever before, according to Lewis. The selective kill proved one thing. There are plenty of fish in the lake and plenty of big fish. Several large bass, up to 17 inches or so, were picked up. Flathead catfish that weighed 30 pounds and more were found.

Lewis said most of the large fish found had captured themselves. They came to the top when the shad did, and gorged themselves until they were unable to swim. As they lay on the top, the heavy waves washed them to shore. He told of one bass, a large specimen, which had 10 shad in its stomach, and another in his mouth which he couldn't swallow.

Those large fish which were picked up and put in fresh water continued to live, he said. Probably a pretty good number of those picked up weren't put in fresh water, however. Most likely they went into fresh stomachs, as rotenone is not dangerous to humans.

If fishing at Buffalo does get better, as expected, the sportsmen of this area owe a great debt of gratitude to the Game and Fish Commission and especially to Lewis. I'm looking forward to the weekends. I'll tell the cook to get a big sack of corn meal, 'cause I'm bringing supper home with me.

During the three years (1916-18) that I worked on the Memphis Commercial Appeal, a procession of gifted reporters came and went, among them:

Vane, who wore spats and carried a cane; he had resigned as managing editor of the Arkansas Democrat in Little Rock to become a reporter on the South's greatest newspaper;

Gordon Gillespie of Greenwood, Miss., a fluent writer of genial personality who was killed in World War I;

Vincent Carroll, a brilliant reporter who became vice president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company;

Moss Penn, clever, humorous, boyish, who said he quit the Globe-Democrat to keep from killing some St. Louis German sympathizer—(this was before the U. S. got into the war).

About that time, two others joined the staff—and they are still with the C. A.: Sam Kahn as tri-state editor and Joe Curtis, famed river editor.

Joe Williams, who had been sports editor on the Commercial Appeal, resigned a similar post in New York City to return to Memphis. He is the same Joe Williams who is now, and has been for years, sports editor of the New York World-Telegram.

Two newcomers deprived me of my only distinction: the paper's youngest reporter. They were Sterling Tracy, a year behind me in Central High, who came over from the Memphis Press, and Reed Campbell, who came down from Paducah, Ky., Irvin Cobb's home town.

Campbell possessed the unfailing aplomb of the stage-and-screen reporter. He was a passenger on a plane which flew under Harahan bridge, which spans the Mississippi. Also there was a story told of him and W. J. Bryan. In those days, Bryan was the nation's greatest orator and many would travel 100 miles to hear him. Young Campbell called on the Great Commoner and asked, "Do you have an advance copy? If you do, I won't have to hear your speech."

More About The Old Stone House"

My newsletter of last week seemed to cause some concern among a number of Washingtonians (this includes Georgetown, where the Old Stone House is located).

From some of the communications I have been receiving you would think I had suggested tearing down the Washington Monument or switching the Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials.

However, it is encouraging to know that I have found a few people who feel that trying to save a little money in the public treasury is not old-fashioned and fuddy-duddy. Perhaps we can get some more recruits for this cause.

Federal Aid to Education

The highly controversial federal aid to education bill has been resting in the Rules Committee. It appears that it will emerge from that committee in the near future and be brought to the house floor for action.

The lines are already being drawn on the controversial amendment that may spell victory or defeat for the bill. The author of the Powell Amendment has written a letter to fellow members of Congress advising them that certain tricky parliamentary maneuvers may be tried in order to avoid a bitter fight on this amendment.

The amendment in question is the one that would deny federal funds to those school districts that were not desegregated. The author of the amendment feels that an attempt will be made to defeat his amendment by having it brought up at a time when those members favorable to it are not in attendance. And having it voted on under circumstances that would not require a recorded vote.

His letter to the other members of Congress indicates that there is a small group of individuals who will appear in the gallery on the day of the vote to make mental notes of those members who are not present and voting, and to immediately expose to the press and the public generally these members.

This is somewhat of an odd twist with reference to this amendment. Heretofore, it has been argued that the Powell Amendment would be adopted because many members who oppose federal aid to education would vote to make the amendment a part of the bill, so that a number of members from the South who generally favor federal aid to education would not be able to vote for the bill on final passage.

That by such procedure the entire bill could be defeated. This gives you some idea of the mental gymnastics that go on in Washington.

The truth is that there is entirely too much piggy-back legislating; that is, the attaching of legislative riders, because of the fear that the rider could not stand up for passage if offered as a separate bill.

There is no reason why these legislative matters should not be treated separately. If a proposal will make a good law, there is no reason why it would not be debated on its own merits.

If it would result in a bad law, it has no business being attached to a good law simply because it cannot pass on its own merits.

In any event, you can watch for some fireworks on the federal aid to education bill and may expect the race issue to be the number one controversy.

Defense Appropriation

When you receive this letter the House, according to the present schedule, will be considering the Defense Appropriation Bill. As you know, there has been a tremendous amount of controversy recently as to whether or not Russia has out-stripped us in air power.

The reports would indicate that Russia has gone ahead. However, I call to your attention the fact that it would not be good policy for this country to be openly advertising its potential air strength.

The Congress has provided the funds asked for by the Defense Department for carrying out an effective defense program, one that was designed and advertised to keep this country well ahead of its potential enemies.

If the Defense Department has failed in this latter item, an immediate correction would be in order. However, it must be recognized that our potential air strength, whether ahead of or behind Russia, cannot be openly and notoriously advertised.

If we are behind Russia, these facts should be made known to the Congress so that the program may be stepped up without delay.

This procedure would require no backbiting, name-calling or bitter arguments, that could serve only the purpose of benefiting our enemies. The tremendous size of this appropriation bill, to wit, $33,635,066,000, for the fiscal year July 1, 1956, through June 30, 1957, would indicate that ample funds are available if properly used.

Teetotal actor in London, England, took a small sip of gin and tonic shortly after the first of the year. He's been hiccuping ever since. That's a sobering experience.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Sometimes European governments are more honest in their terms than U. S. bureaucrats. They often refer to government information as propaganda; some nations even have a Minister of propaganda.

U. S. bureaucrats shy away from term propaganda, preferring "press releases" and "public information officers." A case in point is Federal Trade Commission.

C. W. Harder

Recently House Small Business Committee, headed by Rep. Wright Patman, took long look at FTC press releases.

Edward Howrey recently resigned as FTC chairman. He is currently member of a law firm appearing before FTC for large food company cited by FTC during Howrey's reign.

Before his FTC appointment, Howrey was attorney for a huge firm fighting FTC on a still pending case. His appointment was opposed by National Federation of Independent Business because of this fact.

Although he told Senate committee during hearings he would serve full term, Howrey resigned at end of 33 months.

But judging from FTC press releases during this period, those 33 months were as momentuous to the Republic as the Founding Convention.

Numerous releases stated such things as "FTC reaching 20 year high," "investigations increase almost 50%," "marked increase in effective action against illegal monopoly as contrasted to previous 10 year period." House Committee got curious.

Now committee reports this. In 33 Howrey months, FTC issued 59 anti trust law violation complaints. In 33 months prior 56 complaints were filed.

In Howrey's 33 month blitz 60 companies were charged with violations; in previous 33 months 66 companies were so charged.

Committee found during 33 Howrey months, no charges were filed against huge concerns in the $5 to $10 billion asset class, as compared to one such firm charged in preceding 33 months. In 33 Howrey months no charges were levelled at firms in the $1 to $5 billion class either, although in preceding 33 months three such charges were made.

But report states in 33 Howrey months FTC was more active against small firms than it had ever been. While being puffed up as a valiant St. George, it appears that while Howrey was no great shucks as a dragon slayer, he did make things pretty tough on grasshoppers.

Committee reports at least in one instance Howrey performed yeoman service.

This was a company selling citrus fruits. Investigation revealed firm's entire assets totalled $16,000; its total income during 1954 was only $460.

But intrepid Howrey determined to give them their "come uppance."

So perhaps Howrey did nation great service making it clear no little cheap John $460 company should attempt to flout nation's anti trust laws. This a prerogative reserved for the boys in the billion dollar, or better, class.

Tractor Wrecks Take 1000 Lives

COLLEGE STATION—Farm tractor accidents now take more than 1,000 lives annually. A great majority of these lives could have been saved, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, if the tractor had been operated with care and foresight.

From now until "lay-by-time" the farm tractor will be the workhorse on most farms. Operators will spend long hours planting, plowing, applying insecticides and performing the many other jobs now done with a tractor.

Use the tractor safely. Be sure operators are properly instructed and supervised and always remember, points out Ulich, that fatigue is often a factor in farm accidents.

Excessive speed is the number one cause of tractor accidents. The improper use of wheel brakes, rough roads or a quick turn can bring tragedy if the speed is too high.

Far too many teen-age tractor operators are involved in accidents. Work with these youngsters, urges Ulich and give them instructions and supervision until they are fully qualified.

A tractor cannot carry extra passengers safely and ranking high as a cause of accidents is the extra rider. Children, in particular, often meet with serious injury or death as extra riders.

About a third of tractor fatalities occur on public roads while many more happen on private lanes and drives. Mile for mile, it is safer, points out the specialist, to operate a car on public roads than a tractor.

The heavier the traffic, the greater the hazard. Plan farm work so as to reduce the exposure of slow-moving tractors and farm machinery to traffic hazards.

If machinery must be on the road after dark, be sure it is properly lighted. White lights on the front and red lights on the rear. Reflective material applied to tractors and machinery is an added safeguard.

A red flag helps to warn motorists of slow-moving equipment during daylight hours.

But above all, cautions Ulich, think before doing any job with the tractor. It can be a killer.

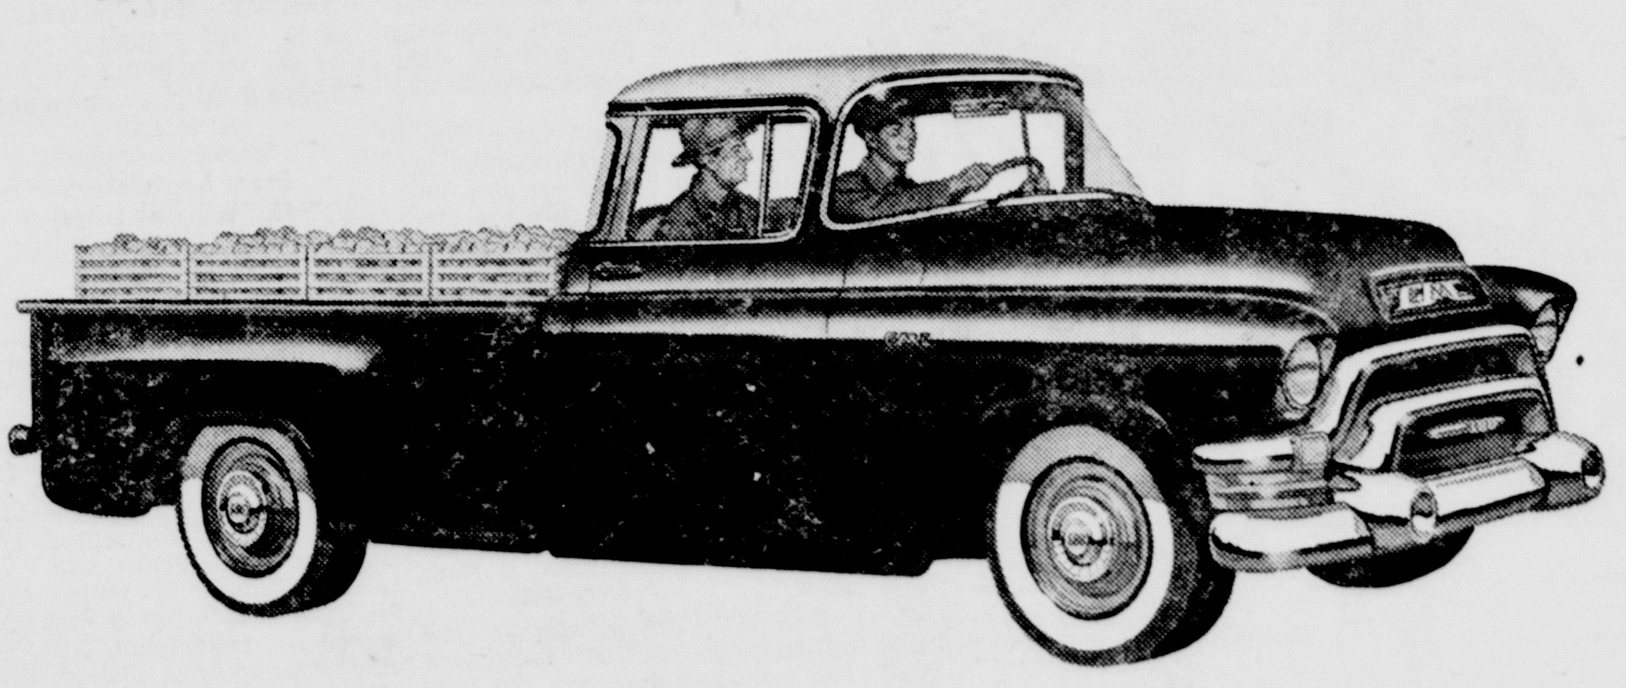
With ordinary suspension wheels hop and bounce violently on rough roads as shown by actual oscillograph records.

With RSD Suspension (on the same road) every wheel bounce is instantly counteracted, smoothed out to a mere flutter on the oscillograph.



You're going to discover the most amazing ride any truck or car ever gave you.

For our Blue Chip GMC equipped with Road Shock Damper Suspension* smothers every jolt and bounce the worst road offers—blots up even short, sharp vibrations from road joints.

You can drive at normal speed over a washboard road where other vehicles must crawl. There's no slewing—no steering wheel wrenching—no punishment to truck or driver.

Part of this eye-opening ride, too, is the surging response you'll get from GMC's 180-hp V8 engine. You'll like the wide-angle safety vision of GMC's panoramic windshield—the amazing economy of GMC's fast-ratio cruising axle—the time-, money- and driver-saving advantages of Hydra-Matic Drive.

Woman's Book Club Celebrates Golden Anniversary With Tea

* * * *

MRS. C. R. BURROW

"Fifty years it has been, and how well I remember when in 1906 the Woman's Book Club was organized," says Mrs. C. R. Burrow, the only living charter member still in membership, who was present at a tea Wednesday commemorating the golden anniversary of the club.

She, who had worked for the club before its existence, in its cradle days and continually through the 50th year, reminisced golden memories for other members.

"Yes, it was Nov. 3, 1906, a Saturday that the club was organized in the home of Mrs. D. M. Stewart," Mrs. Burrow says. She was elected the first president and Mrs. Jasper N. Haney served with her as vice president. Ellen Donald was the first secretary and Emelia Wilson was treasurer.

The group elected a resolution committee for constitution and bylaws that afternoon. Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Haney and Mrs. Oscar Hunt were chosen. The 28 women who were there picked the first and third Saturday of each month as meeting days for the benefit of teachers who were in school all week.

Feeling that entertainment was necessary for club interest, a Mrs. O'Keefe and Mrs. S. L. Ingham and Mrs. R. L. Lester were elected to work with Mrs. Axtell.

It is only by chance that the history of the club's organization was kept on paper. The first four years of the club minutes were lost, but fortunately, Mrs. Burrow took personal notes that day. She had forgotten about them until they fell from an old book. From those yellow tinged papers comes the names of the charter members, some of the first name and initials missing.

From the notes, Mrs. Burrow read the names of Mrs. Axtell, Mrs. E. H. Ackley, Mrs. Boyer, Mrs. Jack Campbell, Sarah Eakman, Mrs. Haney, Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Ingham, Mrs. W. C. Kenyon, Mrs. R. L. Lester, Mrs. Sam Lofton, Mrs. O'Keefe, Mrs. Park, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Rollins, Mrs. Clark Smith, Mrs. Sowders, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Testman, Mrs. A. H. Thompson, Mrs. T. C. Thompson, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Ellen Donald, Emilia Wilson, Oma Long, Emma Brandon. Of these, 15 are deceased.

One name listed above stands out in importance in the club's birth, the name of Mrs. Testman who was a Swedish woman living at what was Canyon's best hotel in 1906. The Victoria Hotel, as it was called, was also the home of Mrs. Burrow and other women. Each day the women met in the reception room of the hotel to sew and talk, but Mrs. Testman was often absent. After learning that Mrs. Testman was absent because of her favorite pastime of reading, Mrs. Burrow presented to her an idea of a club such as she had known back in her home town, Henrietta.

This club was organized for women to enrich their reading and each member brought one book which gave each member access to the resulting total of books. Such was the nature of the first Canyon book club.

Soon the Woman's Book Club was expanding by offering not only additional books for women to read but books and material to study, and then offering opportunities for women to work as a unit in community activities.

One of these community activities won the club the unofficial title of "smell committee," a title given them by several men of the community. Back in the days of the first grocery stores, it was the habit of grocers to allow cats to sleep in the flour barrels. Feeling that this one step of sanitation was needed, the women soon began inspecting the situation and seeking means to bring a halt to the offending habit. They got their temporary title and they got the cats out of the barrels.

Other activities of the club were striving for a cleaner courthouse and cleaner Canyon. They planted flowers along the court house walks. Perhaps their largest project and the one having the largest visible influence on the community was the sponsoring of the Randall County Library.

In 1923, the club organized the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Burrow recalls one project that brought a great deal of disappointment at the time but now leaves only a smiling memory. As the district club meeting was to be in Canyon, the club joined the State Federation of Women's Clubs in 1915, the women decided to plant tulips all over Canyon to beautify the town. They planted hundreds of tulips. And they all bloomed too early and were only withered remains when the district women arrived.

The book club was interested in the public school and donated books, pictures for the halls, and gave a set of encyclopedias to the school.

At the 25th anniversary, Mrs. Reeves, who is a life member of the federated board, was the oldest member aside from charter members and Mrs. Addie McElroy was the second oldest.

In reminiscing at the tea, Mrs. Burrow called the names of those who have been designated as honorary life members. They are Mrs. Isiah Jenkins, Mrs. Geraldine Green and Mrs. C. M. Dowlen and Mrs. A. W. Sternenberg.

And what does it take for 50 years of success? Mrs. Burrow says "It takes interest, thought and planning to make a thing grow."

Mrs. T. V. Reeves who also had a discussion on the commemorative program, discussed the local club in relation to the general women's club movement everywhere from 1896 to the present.

Following the program, the members were served refreshments by hostesses, Mrs. Fred Standley, Mrs. A. A. Clark, and Mrs. R. A. Neblett, from a table decorated with the club's colors, candles and crystal. All but one member was present which made a total of 38. There are 39 members; the limit is 40. The tea was at the home of Mrs. J. P. Cornette.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hawkins of Sweetwater and J. W. Cole of Abilene spent last weekend in the G. C. Cole home. Mr. Hawkins and Mrs. Cole are brother and sister. J. W. Cole is a son of the G. C. Coles.

Sue Hite Hears Program Forum

Mrs. Jo Lee and Mrs. Pauline Brown reviewed the programs for the past year for the Sue Hite Club at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. Mrs. Ada Busteed gave the invocation. Mrs. Frances Calliham and Mrs. Flora Phillips were the hostesses.

New members elected during the business session were Mrs. R. B. Allen, Mrs. Donald H. Enlow, Mrs. A. K. Goodman, Mrs. Earl B. Hatfield, Mrs. David Kaplan, Mrs. Thomas D. MacOwan, Mrs. Bryan McDonald and Mrs. K. L. Pond.

Members of the club present were Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. Busteed, Mrs. Clay Cooper, Mrs. D. M. Foster, Mrs. W. F. Haggard, Mrs. Virgil Henson, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. M. B. Measamer.

Mrs. Boone McClure, Mrs. Jerry Newman, Mrs. J. O. Parker, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Hud Prichard, Mrs. Rex Reeves, Mrs. Burney Slack, Mrs. Paul Summers, Mrs. Crannell Tolliver, Mrs. A. L. Walsh, Mrs. R. D. Wheelock and Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt.

The last meeting of the year will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. J. O. Parker on May 21.

● Refugees

A bulletin from the Department of State, Washington, D. C., informs us that the 100,000th visa is history! We go on from there. Now the Refugee Relief Program is well into the 100,000 to 200,000 span of its visa activities.

Recipient of the 100,000th visa is Josef Konzik, 30-year-old escapee from communism in Czechoslovakia. After visa presentation ceremony in Munich, he and his wife and two small daughters boarded an ICE M chartered plane at Hamburg. Mr. Konzik is well acquainted with machinery and has employment in the Ogden dairy plant in Chicago. His sponsor is Charles Pochobradsky, who has already sponsored four others from Czechoslovakia in the refugee program.

The biggest state geographically has the greatest number of mailings from the Refugee program office. In addition to six members of the Governor's Committee, 239 of the 254 counties in Texas have county representatives for the program and each of these representatives get mailings.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Texas is buzzing with activity!

Although political squabbles take the headlines, the state's general prosperity affects the average Texan's life more significantly.

In almost all areas—industry, construction, retailing and employment—the graphs are pointing up, up and up. General business activity hit a new record high — 4 per cent above 1955 and 6 per cent above the first quarter of last year.

Texas also is out in front in national comparisons. Estimates of gross national production show a 3 per cent rise for the first quarter of '56. Texas' rise was 4 per cent.

Retail sales in Texas were up 3 per cent over the first quarter of 1955. Department stores led with 5 to 10 per cent increases.

Texas' increase in industrial activity is regarded as the most significant factor in the overall picture. Business research experts believe that Texas will receive more than its proportionate share of the $34,000,000,000 which industry is expected to spend nationwide on new plants this year.

Contractors are confident they are headed for a record year. April construction totaled $88,000,000 — an increase of $21,000,000 over April of '55.

Employment followed the general upward trend. This, despite drouth-crippled farm activity. Latest figures show 2,248,000 wage earners in March. That is 115,000 more than for March of last year.

Politics Is Boiling

In bitter precinct battles, Gov. Allan Shivers lost the first skirmish of his long political career. Sen. Lyndon Johnson led all the way in the rural areas. He also won in San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth and Austin. Of the metropolitan centers, Dallas alone went for Shivers.

Just as the rural vote cost Ralph Yarborough the governorship in 1954, so did the small towns defeat Shivers in 1956. In the final analysis, it was the Country Boy's vote that was the hub of victory.

Farmers Get New Hope

Farmers over wide areas of Texas are full of optimism. Long-awaited rains, the heaviest in years, fell in North, Central and East Texas.

However, even where it rained, substantial moisture deficiencies have not been wiped out. But to many farmers the wonderful rains that finally came made them look forward to a good year.

Sanford Cleared by Court

A decision with far-reaching effect on political advertising expenditures has been handed down by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The decision was made in connection with an application of Vernon T. Sanford, Texas Press Association manager, for relief from two indictments returned against him by a McLennan Co. Grand Jury. Indictments charged he had violated the Texas Election Code by spending more than $25 for political advertising in behalf of Ben Ramsey for Lt. Governor in 1954.

Sanford and the TPA Board of Directors contended that any law which limits an individual to a $25 expenditure prohibits freedom of expression and therefore is unconstitutional.

In reviewing the matter, the court found that two laws on the same subject were in direct conflict. Each limited advertising to widely different amounts and set different penalties. Therefore both were declared invalid.

Result: Charges against Sanford were dismissed and Texas now has no applicable law regarding political advertising expenditures by an individual.

Labor Law at Stake

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd was forced into the role of apprehensive spectator in the fight to save Texas' right-to-work law.

He asked, but was refused, U. S. Supreme Court permission to be heard. He did, however, lend moral support and advice as Nebraska's attorney general argued in the high court for his state's law.

Nebraska, like Texas and 16 other states, has an anti-closed shop law which unions contend is in conflict with the National Railway Act.

Reason for Shepperd's apprehension is the general belief that Nebraska's case is weaker than the Texas case, which still is tied up in state court.

Vehicle Tax Voided

Special local automobile taxes to finance big city freeway projects are unconstitutional. So ruled the Texas Supreme Court in a case involving Harris County's auto registration tax.

Such taxes must be levied by general laws, said the court.

Dallas County made two tries for such a tax, but voters turned down the proposals.

Huge Road Program Planned

A whooping $150,000,000 road program for 1957-58 is planned by the State Highway Commission.

Anticipation of substantially increased federal funds is behind the ambitious project. Since House passage, approval of the new federal aid bill is regarded as virtually certain.

About half of the 2,161 miles of highway designated for construction work will be of the "super highway" type — four, six and eight lanes.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said plans were released early so projects could be placed under contract quickly after final congressional action on the aid bill.

Highway Patrolmen Sought

Careers as state highway patrolmen now are open for men between 21 and 35 years of age.

A 200-man increase in the patrol was authorized by the last legislature. State-wide examinations of candidates to bring the corps up to full strength will be held in June.

Applicants must have lived in Texas for a year, have a high school education or equivalent and be in perfect physical condition.

Application forms may be obtained at any district office or by writing W. JD. Elliott, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, Austin.

Sheffield Trial Moved

Brady Land Dealer B. R. Sheffield won the first round in his fight against the veterans land sale charges against him. Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts agreed that Sheffield could not get a fair trial in Travis County and granted a change of venue.

"PUT IT IN THE CIRCULAR FILE"—In this case, the phrase doesn't mean the wastebasket. It refers to the unit being inspected by engineer Bob Wilkins, above, in New York City. Heart of a million-dollar-plus data collecting system, its 2700 feet of magnetic tape can store and "remember" as much numerical information as can be recorded on some 500,000 punched cards, according to its manufacturers. Built in Newton Highlands, Mass., as many as 100 of the file units can be combined in one system. Electronic devices "search" the ribbons, 10 at a time. Operation is equivalent to processing four million punched cards in less than 10 minutes, it is said.

Bagworm Season Now at Hand

COLLEGE STATION—The season for bagworms is at hand and the time to effectively control them is while they are small. Extension Entomologist C. F. Garner points out that chemical controls do no good if applied after the worms are grown.

The worms hatch in the late spring or early summer and the larvae feed on the foliage of ornamental plants. The young worms spin a silken sack and attaches bits of leaves to it as it feeds.

The bag is carried by the worm wherever it goes and the bag produced by a full grown worm may be from one and a half to two inches long.

The female bagworm crawls from the bag and dies after depositing her eggs. The bags should be picked from infested plants and burned for the eggs for next season's worms go through the winter in the bags.

Garner recommends the use of either chlordane or toxaphene as a 10 per cent dust. For a spray, he says 40 per cent chlordane, emulsion concentrate or toxaphene, 60 per cent emulsion, applied at the rate of one to two tablespoons per gallon of water will give good control if used while the worms are small.

Lead arsenate used at the rate of one to two tablespoons per gallon of water also is a good spray.

The entomologist suggests that a copy of L-199, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants, be secured from the local county agent. It lists controls for insects which normally cause the home gardener the most trouble.

CONTRACTOR'S NOTICE OF RANDALL COUNTY HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

May 7, 1956

Sealed Bids addressed to E. T. CUMMINGS, COUNTY AUDITOR of Randall County, Canyon, Texas, will be received at the office of the County Auditor and/or The Commissioners Court until 10:00 A. M., May 21st, 1956, for furnishing all plant, labor, materials and equipment and performing all work required for the construction of 3.515 miles of Flexible Base and Asphalt Surface Treatment on County Road located approximately 7 miles South of Canyon and extending from U. S. Highway No. 87, East 3.515 miles.

All proposals shall be accompanied by cashier's or certified check upon a national or state bank in the amount of 5% of the total maximum bid price payable without recourse to the Commissioners Court of Randall County, Texas, or a bid bond in the same amount from a reliable surety company, as a guarantee that bidder will enter into a contract and execute performance bond within ten (10) days after notice of award of Contract to him. The notice of award of contract shall be given by the Owner within ten (10) days following the opening of bids.

The successful bidder must furnish performance bond upon the form provided in the amount of 100% of the contract price from an approved surety company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as surety.

The right is reserved, as the interest of the County may require, to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in bids received.

Plans, specifications and bidding documents may be secured from the office of Harvey W. Schmidt, Consulting Engineer, 221 Paramount Bldg., Amarillo, Texas.

The minimum wages to be paid on the work included in the proposal shall not be less than the minimum wages required by the Texas Highway Department for similar work.

Bidders shall inspect the site of the work and fully inform themselves as to all conditions and matters which can in any way affect the work or the costs thereof.

Be sure of a stand of small grain . . .
KILL ALL SPECIES OF WIREWORM WITH A SINGLE
dieldrin
seed treatment

NEWLY SEEDED FIELDS make good feeding grounds for true and false wireworms and other soil insects. If there is not enough moisture in the soil to permit quick sprouting, seeds are vulnerable to insect attack for several days. But the threat of wireworm damage should be recognized at all times.

A dieldrin preventive seed treatment is a sure way to protect small grain seeds until they sprout.

LOW-COST PROTECTION

It costs just pennies per acre to treat seed with dieldrin, but dollars per acre to feed the wireworms untreated seed! A dieldrin seed treatment prevents "spotty" stands . . . eliminates the expense of time and money for re-planting or sowing extra seed for the wireworms to feed on . . . assures you of a longer grazing period. And dieldrin does not harm plant development.

COMPATIBLE WITH FUNGICIDES

Dieldrin is compatible with fungicides . . . can be applied at the same time to save the expense and work of a double treatment. You can buy dieldrin-treated seed from your seed dealer, or treat the seed yourself. Dieldrin can be applied as a slurry, dry, or in a grain drill. A convenient method is to apply dieldrin to the seed in the grain drill as you plant. Follow directions on the label for the particular formulation you buy.

LESS WORK AT PLANTING TIME

Seed can be treated now and stored until planting time. Dieldrin eliminates the rush of treating seed and planting within a few days. Dieldrin formulations are available throughout the small grain growing area. See your local supplier.

Traditional Class Day for Seniors Starts WT Graduation Activities

Traditional "Class Day" exercises for graduating seniors of West Texas State College Thursday at 10 a. m. will initiate commencement activities for the Class of '56. The program will be in the Administration Building auditorium.

A concert Thursday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium by the 60-piece WT orchestra, and the annual reception for graduates given by President and Mrs. James P. Cornette Saturday at 8 p. m. at their residence, precedes commencement-baccalaureate services Sunday. Graduation ceremonies are slated at 5 p. m. in the field house.

Opening the special assembly program, seniors in academic caps and gowns, accompanied by members of the junior class, march into the auditorium.

Senior president, Lawrence Overcast of Shamrock, will speak, and a response will be given by James McCoy of Skellytown, junior president.

In ceremonies signifying the passing of senior responsibilities and privileges to the junior class, mortar boards will be handed on to the rising seniors.

Four awards will be presented during the program, two of which go to graduating seniors. Plaques for outstanding senior man and woman are given by Epsilon Beta fraternity and Pi Omega sorority.

An award for the outstanding woman in business administration is given by Phi Gamma Nu, national business sorority, and a prize of $150 is given by the Cabot Carbon Company to the journalism student writing the best research paper in an annual contest.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Seven Teachers Here for Summer

Seven visiting faculty members will join the regular staff members for the two summer terms at West Texas State College. First term registration is June 4.

Five special instructors in the education department have been announced by Dr. J. B. Roberts, department head, and two instructors in women's physical education were named by Miss Ruth Cross, head of the department.

Miss Vesta Watson, primary coordinator of schools in Pasadena, Texas, will teach "Problems in Teaching Social Studies in the Elementary School," June 5-22; Miss Mary C. Call, Pampa, will teach "Handwriting" June 5-15; and Warren Wilson, University of Arkansas, will teach "Administration of Personnel Services" July 17-Aug. 3.

Charles Eads of Amarillo will teach "State and Local Administration" during the second summer term, July 17; while Miss Debbie Shaw, elementary supervisor of Raymondville schools, will teach a workshop in elementary curriculum.

Women's physical education instructors are Mrs. Oma Ford of Dallas and Mrs. Billie Sue Barron of Amarillo.

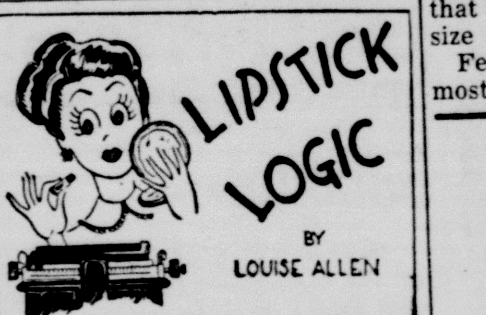
INVITING — Lilli Valli (?) wants to set you dreaming about a surfside vacation. Most especially about a Miami Beach, Fla., vacation. The girl (she's a Cuban dancer), the surf and the ball are real. Is "Lilli Valli" her real name? Oh, you dreamer.



That little-known woman who, back in 1907, originated the idea of Mother's Day, had a wonderful idea. In 1907, no doubt, Mother needed a day when she was looked on as an individual, not just a cooking - dishwashing - dressmaking - laundering footmat for the rest of the family to walk over.

Observing such a day each year has continued because all of us realize the debt we owe to the kind and understanding person who served as a shock absorber while we were growing up. And who is sure it's the other fellow's fault when Daughter hits a rough spot in human relations.

But Mother's needs have changed. Today, she pretty well holds her own the year round. What with super labor-saving household equipment and quick-to-prepare foods, she has a good deal of leisure time. With a car to drive, clubs to join, generally smaller, healthier families, and more self-reliant youngsters, she is often the queen bee rather than the family drone.

Bringing her breakfast in bed, having her rest all day — these don't mean so much any more. She isn't tired. She wants to go places and do things. As for gifts, she'd rather have a travel kit than a footstool, a hat than a bed jacket, a plane ticket than a new kitchen range. She is, thank goodness, young in heart, and we'd better think twice before giving her anything in lavender or gray.

Fact is, we believe Miss Anna Jarvis, or whoever she was, got Mother to thinking about the fix she was in. So, accustomed to meeting any emergency, she went to work on her own. Now, the best we can make out, every day is Mother's Day. And more power to her!

Finishes Eighth Grade at Ranch

Eddy Wallen of Canyon will finish the eighth grade at Boys Ranch and receive his diploma May 25 with the largest graduating class the ranch has ever had.

Thirty ranchers will complete junior high school work and three seniors will graduate from high school. All three seniors are hoping to go to college next fall.

Wallen has been participating in football and basketball in junior high and hopes to play with the varsity teams in high school. He has four brothers at the ranch.

Early Weight Loss Shouldn't Impair Ability of Young Calves to Grow

COLLEGE STATION—Young heifers and steers three to four months old can be kept temporarily on rations that barely maintain their weight, or even result in some weight loss, and yet recover later on full feed to make economical gains and high quality beef, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Work done at the Beltsville Station of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service shows that there need be no loss in the growth potential as a result of low calorie intake for three to six months during the year so long as the animals' limited forage is supplemented by sufficient protein, minerals and carotene (provitamin A) to keep them healthy.

In other words, lack of gain or even some loss or weight by young beef cattle on range in winter or during a drouth will not, in itself, make them uneconomical beef producers.

Such temporary conditions need not impair the animals' later feed-use efficiency, and ultimate meat and hide quality or proportion of lean meat to fat and bone in the carcass.

Work done with 10 sets of identical twin calves showed that in every case growth was resumed after the interruption at a rate that was normal or better for the size of the animal.

Feed per pound of gain was almost exactly the same for the restricted ration group as for the control group.

In four out of 10 cases, however, the cattle given limited feed took several weeks longer to reach slaughter weight which in this case was about 1,000 pounds.

Many animal husbandmen formerly believed that unless calves gained steadily at least half a pound a day their ability to make profitable gains would be permanently impaired.

AWKWARD MOMENTS

Here's the story as a London paper tells it!

"Hoskins, the cook, advised me that you were badly intoxicated last night and that you were trying to roll a barrel out of the basement. Can this be true?"

"Yes, my lord."

"And where was I during this time?"

"In the barrel, my lord."

With the Kessamin reducing plan the only thing you can lose is weight!
KESSAMIN TABLETS

LOSE A POUND A DAY...
FOR 14 DAYS Without Suffering Hunger Pangs Or Loss Of Energy!

To reduce we must eat less (fewer calories) and when we do, we may feel the uncomfortable, almost painful pangs of hunger. We may also become nervous and irritable because of the lack of sufficient vitamins and minerals in a restricted diet. With Kessamin Tablets, Formula #14, and the Kessamin Reducing Plan this can never happen!

SEE WHAT THE KESSAMIN REDUCING PLAN OFFERS!

1. A reducing diet (The Kessamin Booklet) prepared by a physician and a dietician to give best possible diet.
2. Vitamins to prevent deficiencies which cause nervousness, irritability and that tired, dragged-out feeling. Also supplemental minerals and iron to help prevent nutritional anemia.
3. Vitamins plus the bulk, Carboxy Methylcellulose, to stimulate normal intestinal elimination.
4. The "hunger control" factor, Carboxy Methylcellulose, to reduce hunger if taken according to directions.

Tom Wilbanks Wins Scholarship

Tom Wilbanks, son of the Rev. and Mrs. T. Winston Wilbanks, received word recently that he was awarded one of 50 Presbyterian College Scholarships, offered by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., in national competition.

The scholarships, as announced last fall, were to range from $100 to $1,000 based on need and over 600 high school seniors applied.

Tom received a $1,000 scholarship, which will be used at Trinity University, San Antonio, during the 1956-57 academic year. The scholarship is renewable from year to year on maintenance of superior work. Trinity is the Presbyterian, U.S.A., Church college in Texas.

June Bride

RUTH ANN BOLTON

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Bolton are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth Ann, to James Carrol Kauffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kauffman of Levelland. The wedding will be June 22 in the First Baptist Church.

Macks' Leave for European Visit

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mack will leave Sunday for Montreal, Canada, where they will board a ship for Southampton, England, and a four-months visit in Europe.

The Macks will visit Southern England until Dr. Mack, English professor at West Texas State, leaves to attend the Itnernational Federation of University Women convention in Paris in August.

Farm Bureau Office Closes Saturday

The Farm Bureau office in Canyon will be closed Saturday to enable the employes to attend a district meeting in Amarillo at the Herring Hotel.

All of the community chairmen of the county and servicemen are invited to attend the meeting.

Florence Marie Coffee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Coffee, is one of nearly 500 University of Texas College of Arts and Sciences seniors who are candidates for bachelor's degrees at the June 2 Commencement exercises.

Mrs. Alfred Thomason of Gold, Okla., and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dick Morrell of El Sonora, Calif., visited Mrs. Thomason's aunt, Mrs. W. H. McAtee, over the weekend.

Mrs. Jim Hill of Amarillo spent last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Lillie Foster.

Buildings- -

The entire building will be air conditioned, with the exception of the jail. The air conditioning units for the jail dormitories will be different from those of the rest of the building in order to allow them to be shut off when the dormitories are not in use.

The heating system wlil be a hot water system, and the jury dormitories may be cut off the system when they are not in use.

The jail will include maximum security cells for felons, segregated cells for females and for juveniles. The entire jail will be a maximum security jail, and will include a kitchen for feeding prisoners.

The elevator will run from the sheriff's office on the bottom floor to the jail on the top floor, allowing prisoners to be taken to jail in the safest possible manner.

The plans for the building include a walkway from the second floor of the annex to the landing between the first and second floors of the courthouse so prisoners may be taken to court without exposing them to public view.

The annex will be built on the south side of the courthouse and will be centered in the block. First work leading toward construction will be removal of trees that will be in the way and relocation of the incenerator.

The commissioners decided to construct the annex after several grand juries recommended that jail facilities for the county be made more modern and larger. The present one-cell jail is of the minimum security type and most of the county's prisoners, including dangerous ones, were kept in the Potter County jail. Keeping the prisoners in Amarillo resulted in considerable expense, counting the safekeeping payments to Potter County and the man hours needed to transfer the prisoners from Amarillo to Canyon for court purposes and returning them to Amarillo.

The new tax office in Amarillo will be located in the 3800 block on Bowie, just south of the new expressway. The building will be constructed on land already belonging to the county.

Included in the tax office building will be offices for the justice of the peace and for the sheriff's deputies stationed in Amarillo. Around the building will be 34 parking spaces.

The decision to construct the new tax office grew out of dissatisfaction with the present office at 34th and Tyler. The present office was too small for the operation and provided not space for parking, a big item during tax season.

The tax office will be constructed with funds taken from the regular budget, mostly from the courthouse and jail and the jury fund.

Money for the construction of the courthouse annex will be obtained from warrants to be issued by the court, which will later be refunded into bonds. Columbian Securities of Amarillo and Bert, Hamilton and Company of Dallas will handle the warrants and bonds under a contract signed in April.

In other action Monday, the commissioners court set the salaries for the commissioners at $3830 a year with an additional $50 a month for traveling expenses.

In January the court set the salaries at $3230 a year with an additional $100 a month for traveling expenses—$50 of which was to be for traveling expenses as commissioners and $50 for traveling expenses for acting as their own road overseers rather than hiring a foreman for each precinct. The salaries set Monday total the same amount set in January.

of the legislature for a 10 per cent salary increase for the four regular employes of the museum —director, curators of anthropology and art and the secretary.

Also to be included in the request were funds for employing a curator of exhibits at $3,600 a year and a curator of programs at $4,500 a year.

The budget to be requested from the legislature would be about $11,000 greater than that of the last appropriation. The state-fund budget given by the last legislature was $26,846 and the anticipated budget would be $37,696.

If granted, the new budget would cover the years 1957 through 1959.

The society now has 436 members, McClure reported to the business meeting. The membership includes 46 counties of Texas, 18 states and the District of Columbia.

Registration of visitors at the museum now stands at 1,070,000, McClure said. Some 24,000 registered during the first four months of 1956, he said. During 1955, there were 74,095 registrations, second highest year in the history of the museum. The highest registration was 87,004 in 1952.

Sunday Tea Honors Graduating Girls

Canyon High School senior girls were honored at a tea Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson.

Hostesses, Mrs. Tomlinson and daughter, Nancy Kay, who is a senior, greeted guests who were ushered into the refreshment room where Mrs. E. H. Wright and Mrs. Loyd Devin, Mrs. J. D. Ruthart and Miss Claudia Neelley presided at the refreshment table.

Janis Wright presided at the guest book and Diane Prichard was at the piano.

Center of interest in the refreshment room was the table centerpiece constructed of purple and white, the high school colors. Two figures of graduating girls attired in black graduation robes and mortar boards were placed on steps built on a base of purple and white. The figures clasped diplomas marked success. A satin ribbon inscribed with teaching, nursing, business, homemaking, science and marriage marked the steps.

The table was laid with a silver service, crystal and china and was pointed with silver. Cake decorated with purple pansies, and graduation symbols was served with other refreshments prepared in the school colors.

An arrangement of assorted garden flowers completed the decorations.

Edgetown HD Club Votes Call Meeting

At a meeting May 11 in the home of Mary Donnell, the Edgetown HD Club voted to have a felt hat demonstration May 21 at a called meeting. Each member is to bring a felt hat to model.

Guest at the meeting was Mrs. Frances Gidden. Members present included Myrtle Stratton, Jeannette Robbins, Billie Sorgee, Pat Stevens, Judy Gidden, Maud Walters, Olga Phillips and Lillie Foster.

The next regular meeting will be with Myrtle Stratton May 25.

Wayside HD Meets With Mrs. Roberts

The Wayside HD Club met with Mrs. Leroy Roberts for an all day meeting May 3. A covered dish lunch was served at noon.

Miss Fain gave a demonstration and talked on arranging and hanging pictures.

Those attending were Mrs. Melton McGehee, Mrs. Floyd Adams, Mrs. Henry Hamblen, Mrs. Wiatt Heisler, Mrs. E. J. Mahler, Mrs. C. D. Rogers, Mrs. James Bible and Mrs. Dewitt McGehee.

District Captain Wants Recruits

Capt. J. W. Blackwell, commanding officer of the Amarillo District of the Texas Highway Patrol, said that applications are being received from young Texans who are interested in appointment to the state patrol force.

The patrol captain said that he will be happy to talk to prospective candidates at his office in Amarillo, located at 2200 East 10th. He pointed out that the last legislature authorized an increase of 200 men in the patrol's strength and that the remaining vacancies would be filled through examinations given state-wide late in June from the list of applicants filing between now and June 10.

General qualifications for appointment to the Texas Highway Patrol, according to Capt. Blackwell, include the following: Age 21 to 35 years, inclusive; high school education, or equivalent; minimum height of 5 feet 8 inches; weight in proportion to height; good moral character; perfect physical condition; and excellent character.

Rookie patrolmen are paid during their training and probationary period, the captain said, and other job benefits outlined by the captain include two weeks paid vacation annually; sick leave; State Retirement and Federal Social Security.

Application blanks may be obtained from the District Patrol Office in Amarillo or by writing to Chief W. J. Elliott, Texas Highway Patrol, Austin, Texas.

4-H Club Decides On June Bake Sale

The Umbarger 4-H Club voted to have a bake sale at Bellah's Super Market June 2 at the monthly meeting May 9.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Mona Hildreth gave a demonstration on cookies to 21 members. The next meeting will be at the Ben Koch home May 29.

Barbara Brown Has Piano Recital

Barbara Brown was presented in a piano recital Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Houston Bright, her teacher.

Barbara, a sophomore at Canyon High School, played numbers from Beethoven, Chopin, Debussy, Scott and Gershwin.

Carol Brown greeted the guests and Connie Wilkins presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cofer and daughter, Susan, Connie and son, Bruce, have returned to their home at Pasadena after a few days visit with his mother, Mrs. Roy Cofer and family. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Read also visited Mrs. Cofer.

Wayside News

The Rev. Luther Kirk, superintendent of the Plainview District, filled the pulpit Sunday morning. Dinner was served in the basement to a good crowd. Then the quarterly conference was held. A number from Vigo Park attended. The Rev. Joe Leatherwood preached in the evening.

WSCS met Tuesday at Wayside with Mrs. Guy Watson in charge. Topic for the meeting was "Why We Give."

Others attending were Mrs. Joe Leatherwood, Mrs. Tom Trostle, Mrs. Leroy Roberts, Mrs. O. E. Tuggle, Mrs. Roy Dodson, Mrs. Hazel Nichols. They decided to collect Betty Crocker coupons to obtain silverware for the church. Anyone having coupons to donate will be appreciated.

Mrs. Melton McGehee left Monday for San Antonio to attend a THDA meeting. She went to Stephenville to visit a sister and to spend Mother's Day at Dublin with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Roberts, Princess and Deltah spent Mother's Day weekend at Vera with his aunt, Mrs. Jim Roberson.

W. R. Franklin held the lucky number that won the G. E. roll-easy vacuum cleaner. It was the grand prize at the REA and telephone meeting April 28 at Tulia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McGehee made a business trip to Amarillo Thursday.

The Leroy Roberts family is sporting a new white colored Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Franklin and Mrs. J. S. Sluder of Happy made a trip to Montague County the past week visiting relatives and friends in and around Nocona, Saint Jo, Bonita and Gainesville. They have had rain in that part of the country, and yards, gardens and fields are green and growing.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Moudy announce the arrival of a son.

Melba Fisher Given Farewell Coffee

Melba Fisher was honored Thursday morning with an informal farewell coffee in the home of Mrs. Billie Sorgee. The honoree received several gifts.

Hostesses with Mrs. Sorgee were Pat Stevens and Mary Donnell.

Those present were Catherine Thompson, Mrs. John Plank, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Myrtle Sparks, Mrs. Joan Hicks and Mrs. Betty Davis.

The hostess served lemon congealed dessert and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carter visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Price in Amarillo Sunday.

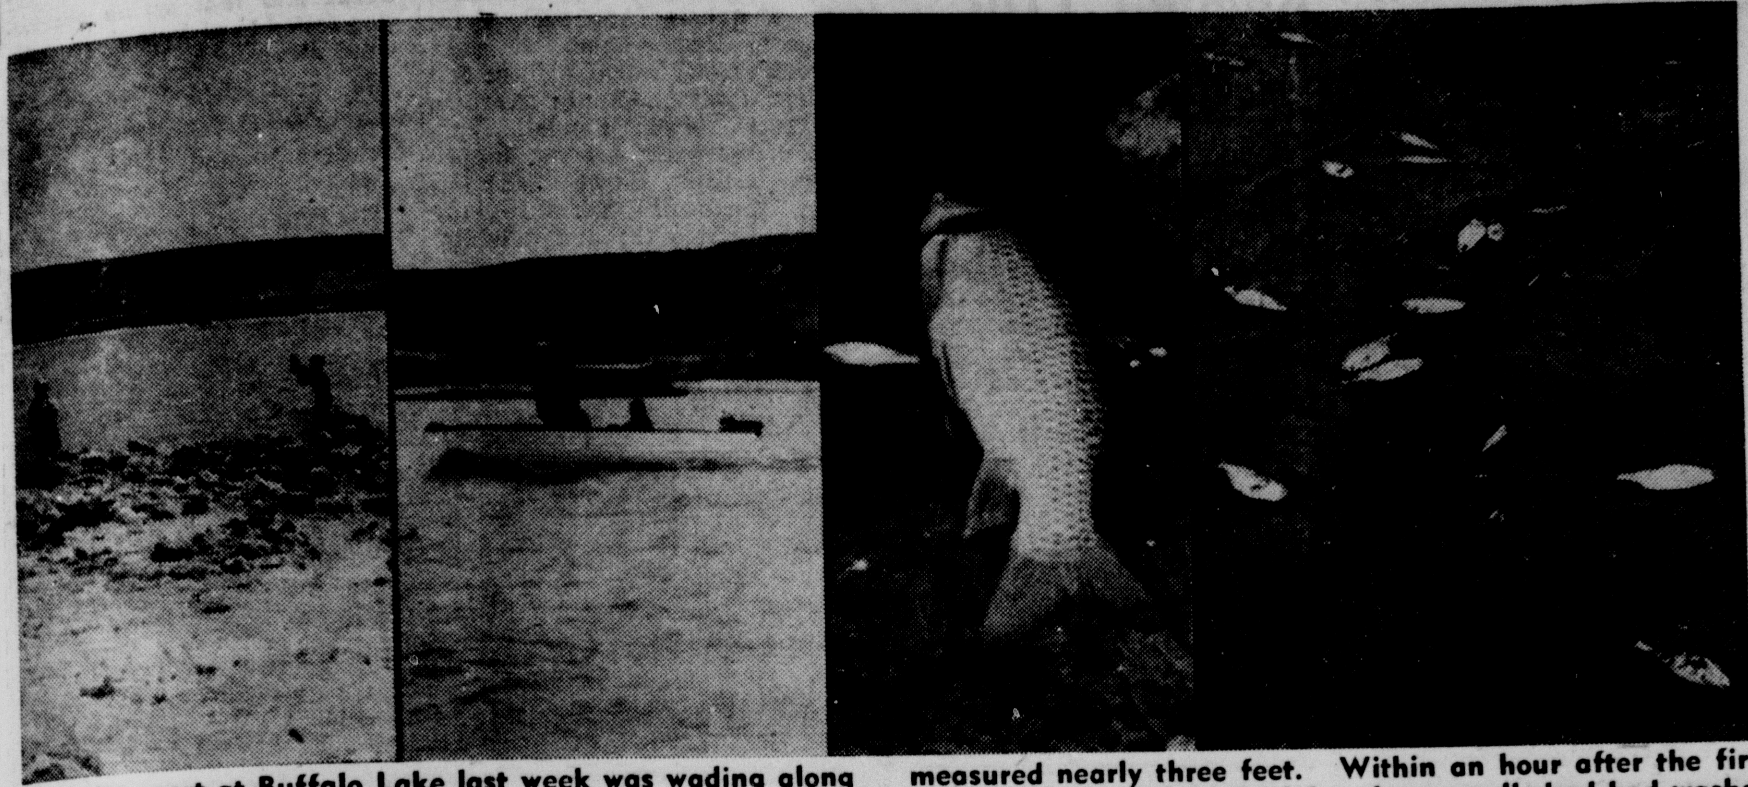
All in a Morning's Poisoning



A favorite sport at Buffalo Lake last week was wading along the edge of the lake looking for game fish being washed ashore. Two game wardens patrolled in a boat on the day of the poisoning, keeping other boats off the water. One of the carp found about 1½ hours after rotenone was spread measured nearly three feet. Within an hour after the first rotenone was put into the lake, these small shad had washed to shore at the boathouse. Other thousands washed in during the week.

* * * *

If Only They Were Good

Enough Fish Die to Feed Entire Population of Panhandle at Once

If shad and carp were good to eat, the entire Panhandle could have enjoyed a mammoth fish fry at Buffalo Lake last week.

A Game and Fish Commission crew, headed by Aquatic Biologist Leo Lewis of Wichita Falls, distributed 1,840 pounds of rotenone, a fish poison, into the lake beginning Monday and an estimated 65½ tons of carp and shad floated to shore.

Lewis left Thursday for home after running a count of dead fish along the shore. His estimate showed 67,920 pounds of dead shad and 63,364 pounds of dead carp. In with the dead rough fish was an estimated two-thirds of a ton of game fish—mostly catfish with some bass and crappie. Scattered in the piles, which lined the shore of the lake, were glimmering goldfish. Lewis said the estimate would be low because the fish were still coming in at the time of the count.

Lewis said less than one per cent of the dead fish were game fish, and many of them were washed ashore by the high wind and waves while gorged on shad. He said the rotenone had affected few of the game fish, and they wouldn't have been bothered by the poisoning if they hadn't been so greedy.

The rotenone was distributed through the lake from a barge powered by three 10-horsepower motors. At the same time, part of the crew was poisoning Tierra Blanca Creek above the lake.

Lewis said the original plans called for poisoning of the creek for only a few miles, but the kill was so successful (so many carp were being killed) that the plans were changed and the creek will be poisoned all the way to Hereford.

Lewis said he was pleased with the results of the selective kill of rough fish in Buffalo Lake. He will return to the lake once each month for the next year in order to continue ridding the lake of rough fish.

The next order of business in the poisoning will be the spot-killing of carp when they gather in the shallow south end to spawn. Lewis said the poison will be dumped on them when they get concentrated.

Rotenone, not dangerous for humans, paralyzes the gills of the fish and they suffocate.

The poisoning in the lake started at 7:30 a. m. May 7. At 8:15, the barge had criss-crossed the lake a dozen times and was at the south end, having started near the dam.

The barge, built by Lewis and his crew, has a bin in the center with mixing paddles and a water-pump powered by a motor. The rotenone is dumped into the bin, mixed with water and spewed out six pipes which project into the water under the barge.

A motorboat followed behind the barge mixing the water again. A high north wind helped mix the poison on top of the water, and the undertow, which moved opposite to the waves, mixed it thoroughly.

Within an hour after the first poison was spread, thousands of small shad were covering the surface of the lake. However, the shad began disappearing a little later. Lewis said the shad sink when they finally die, and are washed on shore two or three days later.

Within two hours after the poison was spread, hundreds of carp began striking their mouths out of water to breath and by noon, many were giving up the ghost and turning over on their sides. The carp ranged up to about three feet in length, while around a foot was the largest shad size.

The fish continued coming to the surface through Tuesday and Wednesday, and even Friday the dead fish were still being washed ashore.

Other crews at Buffalo Lake were kept busy trying to clear the shores of dead fish before they began rotting, but their work piled up faster than they could keep it cleared.

The high winds kept the lake stirred up until they died down Thursday night, and Friday morning it looked as if the water would clear and turn blue—a sight that hasn't been seen at Buffalo in years.

Rotenone is believed to be effective for about 72 hours. Experiments have shown the concentrations which are effective for different species of fish, but the experiments are not conclusive yet. The selective poisoning of Buffalo Lake was an experiment along the same lines.

By noon Monday, word of the poisoning had spread and hundreds of people began wading the shores looking for game fish and helping throw carp out of the water. More came each day in the search for fish.

While the poisoning was underway and during the first day, Game Warden Cal Loveless and Lake Black kept boats off the lake. Game Warden Woody Pond accompanied the crew poisoning the creek.

Recil Johnson, manager of the lake, cruised with a dip net during the kill, checking on fish sizes and types, finding several large bass, including one 17 inches long and great numbers of good-sized channel catfish.

Many of those game fish he found were gorged on shad and were unable to swim.

Clarence Schulz and A. H. Linderman found a 32-pound flathead catfish they transferred to a minnow pond.

Other large catfish were also found along the shores, most with their stomachs swollen with shad.

The poisoning of the lake was a joint project of the Game and Fish Commission and the federal government, operating under the Dingell-Johnson Project. The federal project is financed by proceeds for a fishing tackle tax.

WT Ex Joins ROTC Staff

SFC. Julius S. Cross of Amarillo has been assigned for a tour of duty with the West Texas State College Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit, according to Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics.

Discharged in April at Fort Jackson, S. C., Sgt. Cross re-enlisted in the Army earlier this month in Amarillo to be assigned to the WT unit. He will handle office administration for the unit.

Sgt. Cross has served nearly nine years in the Army and saw action in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre during World War II. He was discharged from service in 1946 and attended West Texas State and its Amarillo Center for two years. He taught at the West Texas Barber College until he rejoined the Army in 1953.

After being stationed for a year at Fort Sill, Okla., Sgt. Cross was assigned to a personnel administration unit in Korea, where he remained until September, 1955.

Sgt. and Mrs. Cross and their daughter, LaJuanda, 7, live at 4106 S. Hughes in Amarillo.

Soil, Water Conservation Inventory Slated Immediately Across Nation

COLLEGE STATION—Work will begin immediately on a national inventory of soil and water conservation needs. The inventory, according to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, is intended to equip the Department for more efficient planning and carrying out of its work involving soil and water.

Each county in the United States will be inventoried. Plans call for completing the initial work in three years, with periodic revisions thereafter to keep the information and figures up to date.

Benson said, "With the inventory, we can make reasonable estimates of the magnitude and urgency of the various conservation measures needed to maintain and improve the country's productive capacity for all the people."

The Secretary has directed the Soil Conservation Service to carry out the study with the help of the Agricultural Conservation Program Service, Agricultural Research Service, Commodity Stabilization Service, Federal Extension Service, Farmers Home Administration and Forest Service.

Representatives of these agencies will make up a national Soil and Water Conservation Needs Committee which will develop procedures and guide the program. Comparable committees in the states and territories will be named to carry out the work at that level.

In addition, cooperation of state and local agencies, organizations and groups concerned with soil, water, forest, range and wildlife conservation will be actively solicited. These include the land-grant colleges, soil conservation districts, state forestry and conservation departments, water agencies and similar groups.

DISASTROUS

Two hillbillies who had never been on a train before had been drafted and were on their way to camp. A food butcher came through the train selling bananas.

The two mountaineers had never seen bananas and each bought one. As one of them bit into his banana the train entered a tunnel. His voice came to his companion in the darkness.

First Hillbilly: "Have you et yours yet?"

Second Hillbilly: "Not yet, Why?"

First Hillbilly: "Well, don't touch it. I've et one bite and gone blind."

Delegates Elected To Lions Convention

Clarence Eugene Thompson, Clark Jarnagin, Clay Cooper, Ed Williams and Bill Cherry were elected delegates to the District 2-T-1 Lions Convention Thursday and Friday in Amarillo at last week's meeting.

Alternate delegates are the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, Clarence Kincaid, Rex Reeves, Art Roberts and Bill Griffin.

Bernye Bob Woodward, Canyon High School senior, was selected as Lions Club Queen and will represent the Canyon club in a contest at the convention.

Boone McClure, head of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, presented a program of stories about the early day settlers of the Plains area.

Mrs. A. B. Berry is the star clerk of Canyon.

Mrs. Berry, who works in Thompson Hardware, was selected by the most people as the outstanding clerk in Canyon and will receive the $5 prize.

The reasons given for her nomination were that she is always polite, friendly and is helpful in choosing gifts. Furthermore, it was said that Mrs. Berry always takes complaints from customers in a courteous or "the customer is always right" attitude, even if the complaint is not due to her error.

One person who nominated this clerk says, "Mrs. Berry is always courteous and never too busy for individual attention. She is reliable and often makes, selections for one when one is unable to shop in person. She is neat and attractive too. Her pleasantness adheres her customers to shop with her."

The qualities that one person appreciated in Mrs. Berry were also qualities accredited to many other clerks. She says, "Mrs. Berry is patient and doesn't try to force you into buying something you don't want." And that, "If what you want isn't on the shelves she is willing, with a smile to go upstairs and hunt it out for you. After she waits on you, you feel like you have visited with a friend."

Summing up all the recommendations given in the nominations for clerks, it seems that customers like a clerk that has an amiable personality and has a like and interest not only in his job but in people as well.

And what does Mrs. Berry say about winning the contest? Simply, "I have a lot of courteous people to wait on."

So, congratulations, Mrs. Berry. We hope you have many more successful years as a clerk.

Each second Tuesday Mrs. James P. Cornette entertains the women college faculty members and the wives of the men on the college faculty with an informal coffee. From 60 to 70 women usually attend.

At the last coffee, she served a cheese cake that made quite a hit. In fact, the women thought the cake was so good that they were literally itching for the recipe. A request was voiced to me, which I in turn voiced to a pleased hostess and, ladies, here it is.

Cheese Cake

Zwieback, I package
Sugar, 2½ cups
Cinnamon, ½ teaspoon
Butter or margarine, melted, ½ cup
Eggs, 8
Flour, 9 Tablespoons
Salt, ½ teaspoon
Vanilla, 1½ teaspoons
Lemon juice, 4 tablespoons
Lemon rind, ½ teaspoon
Evaporated milk or cream, 2 cups.
Cream cheese, 2 pounds

Put Zwieback through food chopper. Combine with ½ cup of the sugar, cinnamon and melted butter or margarine; mix well. Grease heavily a 10-inch spring form (tube center) mold or cake pan and press as much of the above mixture as well hold to the bottom and sides of pan. Reserve the remaining mixture for top of cake. Place in refrigerator until filling is prepared.

Beat eggs until thick and light; add remaining sugar (2 cups), flour, salt, vanilla, lemon juice and rind; beat well. Combine evaporated milk or cream (She uses evaporated milk) and cheese; mix well, add to egg mixture.

Pour into pan containing crumbs and sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees) 1¼-1½ hours, until set; cool in oven. Loosen edge with spatula, remove spring side from base.

Some of the crumb mixture may be reserved to sprinkle on slices. Makes 20 servings.

How was your Mother's Day? Fine, I'll bet, and I bet that those mothers who attended Mrs. A. K. Goodman's third grade special Mother's Day program Friday afternoon felt proud and appreciated.

The program was given in the all-purpose room of the Elementary School and upon entering the room, mothers and guests were given programs put together and colored by the youngsters.

The group gave two plays, "We Appreciate Mother" and "The Shoe Children's Gifts." In "We Appreciate Mother," the thought was that the children don't appreciate mother just because she does things like cook good meals but just because she's mother and they love her.

This was the first one of these programs I had been to since way back when I was all decked out in crepe paper costume and was a little fairy or sunbeam. It was quite enjoyable and also interesting to notice the prodigious acting ability of some of the third graders. Also the grand thing about it was the fact that the children are learning to work together on a project and learning to give expression of themselves.

Besides the plays, the group gave two musical readings, "The Ugly Duckling," with Lynda Hughes the reader and "Raggle Town Singers," with Jackie Haynes the reader. Mrs. Glenn Dowlen led the group in four songs and choral readings completed the program.

Afterward there was a tea honoring the mothers in the third grade room.

Participating in the event were Lois Jean Alderete, Maryilyn Arnpriester, Patsy Bledsoe, Judy Britt, George Cox, Reeta Beth Gibson, Don Gough, Jackie Haynes, Wilson Howard, Lynda Hughes, Beth Jarrett, Trudy Johnson, Judith Kardos, Barry Lindsey, Cheryl Loven.

Randall 11th In Duck Kills

AUSTIN—Preliminary charts from a random survey of Texas hunters indicate the main migration route for southbound waterfowl last fall skirted the eastern Panhandle edge, nicked the Dallas-Fort Worth area and swept southeastward toward the upper Gulf.

The purpose of the studies, conducted by the Game and Fish Commission, is to locate duck and goose movements, pin point any population trends, guage the hunting pressure and determine harvest total, according to W. S. Jennings, assistant director of Wildlife Restoration.

He said the survey results indicated no startling changes but added that hunter replies to the form questionnaire distributed last January had not yet cleared up the whereabouts of an estimated 1,200,000 redheads that mysteriously disappeared from their accustomed lower coast habitat early last fall.

Tentative tabulations by Biologist J. R. Singleton show that more waterfowl were harvested in Harris County (Houston) than in any other Texas county. Several counties in that southeastern Texas area reported comparatively high duck and goose bags. Coastal counties dominated the first 10 counties listed in the preliminary totals.

Randall County in the Panhandle was eleventh; Bexar (San Antonio) was thirteenth; Tarrant (Fort Worth) fourteenth; Wichita (Wichita Falls), fifteenth.

Here is how the incomplete results determined the first 15 counties in the reported duck and goose harvest: Harris, first; Brazoria (Angleton), second; Nueces (Corpus Christi area), third; Jefferson (Beaumont), fourth; Galveston, fifth; Chambers (Anahuac), sixth; Colorado (Eagle Lake), seventh; Calhoun (Port Lavaca), eighth; San Patricio (Sinton), ninth; Aransas (Rockport), tenth; Randall (Panhandle), eleventh; Liberty (upper coast), twelfth; Bexar (San Antonio), thirteenth; Tarrant (Fort Worth), fourteenth; and Wichita, fifteenth.

Concerning the mystery fadeout of the huge concentration of Laguna Madre based redheads, Jennings said futile efforts were made last fall to locate the fleet ducks and that spring observation failed to pick up their northward movement.

He said destruction by the drought of fresh water supplies doubtless prompted the redheads to flee.

The redheads' plight pointed up the waterfowl status in the Valley where Cameron County, scene of a heavy duck and goose harvest in 1954-1955, failed to make the first 30 counties listed in the random survey.

REDDY'S Farm Report
FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Egg raising has come of age. From the time when grandpa "kept a few chickens," to the present day, egg raising has gone "scientific." Producers today carefully manage their chickens determining correctly balanced rations, taking proper sanitary precautions, all with an eye to a better price per dozen.

However, all the precautions are to no avail if freshly laid eggs are not cooled from their 106 degree temperature to the 55 degrees necessary to grade "A" quality. It has been proven that eggs kept for a week at 55 degrees and 85% relative humidity are superior in quality as compared to eggs not cooled and kept only one day under average Texas summer temperatures. Eggs deteriorate even more rapidly in hotter weather.

What does egg cooling mean to the egg producer? It has several advantages: 1. He gets a higher price per dozen for his quality eggs because the ultimate consumer is willing to pay more for eggs that he knows are quality. 2. He is assured of a constant market because cooled eggs are a better edible food product. 3. He needs to make fewer trips to market, thereby saving on hauling costs and time. 4. Obviously the investment in egg cooling equipment will more than pay off.

What kind of cooling equipment will do both the cooling and humidifying job needed to maintain quality? Tests at the Texas Agricultural Extension Service found that refrigerative equipment must be used, and that, in general, a twelve case cooler will handle the production from 1,800 laying hens by marketing twice weekly. The cost, expressed in terms of kilowatt hours used, is only 1½ kilowatt hours of electricity per case of eggs cooled. This is indeed cheap insurance for keeping your market eggs at top quality. Incidentally, those who have tried evaporative egg coolers found that in high temperatures the method failed to bring egg temperatures down to 55 degrees and that humidity control was lacking. Too much relative humidity may cause mold to develop on the eggs, while too little may cause weight shrinkage, as much as 3½% in five to seven days.

Most farm store dealers have access to a line of moderately-priced refrigerative egg coolers and will be glad to give you information on their particular brand.

"For better eggs and better prices, the eggs should be gathered often and cooled immediately," says Herbert Hunt, "because eggs, like milk, are a perishable product." Mr. Hunt cools the production from a flock of 600 hens on his Claude, Texas farm. He uses a twelve case cooler. In the picture Mr. Hunt, left, and Jack Stallings, Universal Mills feed representative, examine cooled eggs.

Dear Editor:

A short time prior to the recent prohibition election, held in Potter, and other counties of the Panhandle of Texas, a great variance of reasoning was evidenced by opposite factions. However, one vital point of the issue was, apparently, conceded by both. So far as I am aware, no one voiced the virtues of alcoholic beverages as a means of promoting health, wealth and happiness for those on the receiving end of the bottle. The fact that "drinking" is a large contributing factor to all phases of crime, seemed to be too evident for denial. It is common knowledge of all sane people that the more drinking there is the more drunkenness there will be, and the more drunkenness there is the more criminal negligence, the more broken homes, the more wasted substance, the more debased morals, murder, suicide and insanity there will be.

The battle cry that won the victory for the "wets" seemed to be directed against the return of the bootlegger. They, apparently, made a great distinction between the legal and illegal distribution of the same thing. It is hard for one to associate such thinking with reason. If a thing is wrong, making it legal does not make it right. The law has little or nothing to do with making an act good or evil, it merely assesses the penalty for violation. If this were not so we could appeal all laws and have a utopia. Would prostitution be less damning were it made legal? Would stealing be an honorable business if the laws prohibiting it be erased from our statutes? Would murder be less deadly, and the frequency of commitment curtailed were it not for the penal code? Would putting strychnine in one's coffee be less fatal if there were no law against it? Would legalizing the act of putting it there make him who did it less guilty? The results of the consumption of intoxicants constitute an evil of such proportion that it staggers the imagination; and he who contributes to the use of it by sale, or otherwise, is accessory to the crime, whether he be bootlegger or "Leading Citizen."

There are other aspects to the legal sale of death and destruction, known as alcohol, one of which is advertising. Those who promote such agencies, whether it be for radio, television, printed page or otherwise, are continually proclaiming the fact that "It pays to advertise," and are always ready and willing to come in for their part of the credit for any increase in sales—and rightly they should. So, reason would allow them full credit (or discredit) for their part in the sale and consumption of intoxicating liquor — but more about that later.

The Creator has provided most living things, including people, with a natural disposition for adjustment to surroundings. That which is shocking to our finer senses may cease to be repulsive after long periods of association with it; and that which causes great emotional disturbances may cease to distress if experienced repeatedly. We are told that in areas where death by starvation and disease is a common occurrence the bodies of dead children lying in the street are passed by, or stepped over, scarcely noticed or considered. Likewise, the things we have never wanted may become desired to the point of passion by having them continually paraded before us, with virtues acclaimed for them which they may not possess. This trait in our nature largely explains the phenomenal influence advertising has had in promoting our way of life. Since the days of prohibition, few corporations have spent such enormous sums of money as the liquor industry through the various channels of advertising; and as a result, more intoxicating beverage is being consumed by more people, young and old, than ever before in the history of our nation. Countless thousands of children, teen age and under, during the days of prohibition, grew to maturity knowing little or nothing of whiskey and beer; but imagine, if you can, the millions who today drool over favorite programs, sponsored by the breweries, who can name all the popular brands, and see in them, only, that which belongs. To deny these statements is to declare that advertising hinders rather than helps the sale of a product. The bottles and cans that litter our lawns, streets and highways is mute evidence to the contrary.

A long list of names appeared in the Amarillo News-Globe (in a paid ad) a day or two before the aforementioned election, urging everyone to go to the polls and vote for "Legal Sale." This group was boastingly referred to as Leading Citizens. Oh, that the Spirit of light would reveal to them just how aptly the name applies; just how many they are leading, and to where, and to what they are leading them. Like the Piper of old, they pipe, and an invisible multitude follows them. Some to penal institutions, some to untimely death; some to poverty and want, some to the gutter of despair. Through every avenue of vice they make their hapless way, like sewage ever seeking a lower level, till, alas, they reach the place where bacteria destroys every vestige of pollution, along with the polluted, leaving behind an influence to mark and to mar their posterity, and a name to grieve the hearts of those who remember.

May the pitying God pardon those who subscribe to such a program for lack of understanding; but in the name of justice one would hesitate to ask as much for those who adhere to such practice in order to fill their coffers with gold from the traffic in the lives and loves of man. Whether one profits from manufacturing or the sale, direct or indirect, it matters not. He who receives a fat check for the advertising of the "stuff" is no less guilty than the others. Reason would ask just how much comfort will their sham barricade of "Legal Sale" afford when the jibbering voices of the idiots, born to drunken parents, rise in a thunderous chorus to curse them? Can they sit in smug complacency behind such a false structure when the feeble fingers of aged mothers point to them and pronounce damnation on their withered souls? Will they still be proud of the title, "Leading Citizens" when the hopeless hordes of fallen women, whom their legal business has seduced, rise up from the streets and the alleys, from the road houses and brothels, to shout in their ears the scathing charge: "Thou art the men?"

'Preacher's Wife' Reviewed for Club

Miss Elva Fronabarger reviewed "The Preacher's Wife" at the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club meeting May 10 in the home of Mrs. C. H. Stratton.

Mrs. George Cox, president, presided at the meeting which was begun with the singing of the club song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," with the accompaniment of the organ. Mrs. Mary Burtz led the singing.

A devotional taken from Luke 12 was given by Mrs. H. C. Hudson in which she developed the thought that Jesus praises the life dedicated to spiritual ideas rather than a life based on material idols.

During the social hour, angel food cake and ice cream were served by the hostesses to Mrs. W. G. Rose, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Burtz, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. G. B. Combs, Mrs. T. V. Slack, Mrs. E. Gidden, Mrs. T. T. Fain, Mrs. I. M. Steen, Mrs. M. E. Cleavinger, Mrs. E. C. Penick, Mrs. N. A. Croson and Miss Fronabarger.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. W. Bowman, Mrs. W. I. Wester, Mrs. C. W. Dunn and Mrs. Stratton.

Jerry D. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Wells, was scheduled to complete recruit training last Saturday at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

It's Coming Out

A dreaded disease has spread over Canyon High, striking down students and faculty alike. There is no known cure.

The symptoms are 1.) drowsiness, 2.) lack of pep, 3.) inability to concentrate, and 4.) drooping eyelids. Many students have slept through six periods at school and then gone home and slept until bed time. A few students have even reached the point where they had rather stay in class than get out. Students are stricken down during their most vulnerable period, the final six weeks.

Students may not be cured of spring fever, but keeping up with daily assignments and preparing themes and reports on weekends will lessen the effects. If one does not do this, one will suddenly wake up with all the assignments for the final six weeks piled up before one and two days to do them. Seldom is found a student that can do six weeks of works in two days.

Yes, it is the time for spring fever. No doubt the sale of sleeping pills is down.

Remember When?

School opened with the complete new addition being used.

Harlie Adams scored five touchdowns against Muleshoe.

Debra McDonald was crowned Halloween Queen, and Farrell Davenport was her escort.

Stevenson's Pontiac gave the school a new car for use in the driver education classes.

The campaign assembly was held for the election of the SFC president and vice president.

All groups seemed to be holding a Christmas party.

Every student seemed to be sleepy in the day because of the extra work he had done in studying for the semester examinations.

Melvin Cunningham and Faye Lowrey were elected senior favorites. The juniors named Larry Brandon and Lynn Atkinson their favorites, and Dory Funk and Connie Wilkins were announced the favorites of the sophomore class. Dwayne Ledbetter and Nancy Wiggins were selected freshman class favorites.

The National Honor Society members were announced wtih 24 new members being added.

Phillips defeated Canyon for the district basketball championship. Buses were sent to Hereford, carrying all of the Canyon students who wanted to go.

The Musical Gray's presented an assembly program, and the son sang "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing."

The athletic banquet was held, and the athletic queens were announced.

Students won at district and went to regional and won again.

The junior-senior banquet was held in the new grade school, and the Sandie Swingsters played.

It seemed like the end of school was a long way off.

Eighth Graders Tour Canyon High

On May 16 and 17, four sections of the eighth grade visited Canyon High School.

The purpose of their visitation was to obtain facts they will need to know next fall, to tour the building and become acquainted with all departments.

Students were given information on courses of study in which they may follow in Canyon High as they were also given information on how to get the most out of CHS, why they should take certain subjects, privileges which they must have as a member of CHS and opportunities and responsibilities which may be theirs while participating in high school.

Various people took part in the orientation program, among these were members of the Student Congress, selected high school students, teachers and administration.

Annuals Arrive Before Expected

The 1956 Soaring Wings are here! The yearbooks arrived May 5, three days ahead of schedule, and were passed out to the National Honor Society members at the annual signing party which was held at 6:30 May 8 in the cafeteria.

Each year the NHS members are given the privilege of receiving their annuals the evening before they are distributed to the student body.

The 1956 Soaring Wings have a purple and silver padded cover with purple the dominate color. The annual staff chose a pioneer theme and dedicated the book to the early settlers of Canyon. Art work was done by the Art II class under the direction of Miss Claudia Neelley. Mrs. Nora Gilmore is sponsor of the annual staff.

Because of the many services offered which will be of value to the annual staff next year, plans have been completed to change publishing companies for the 1957 annual.

The company, News Photo Publishing Co., permits the annual staff to proofread copy and select the size of type they prefer as well as sending a dummy and a series of layouts for yearbook use. Formerly, the book was published by the Steck Company.

Science Members Consume Supper

The Science Club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. O. L. Coleman, May 3, at 5:30.

A ham supper was enjoyed by special guests and members.

Entertainment for the evening was given by Dr. Cook who lectured on guided missiles and gave several examples of calculating machines. Dr. Cook had joined with the Army on the subject of guided missiles. He has also worked with Dr. Don Brawn, who invented the VT rocket.

Special guests attending were Dr. and Mrs. T. L. MacOwan, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Whealy, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Hull, Mrs. B. Z. Woodward, Rev. and Mrs. T. Winston Wilbanks, Ruth Cross, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller, Dr. Leta Boswell.

Four Take State Wins

* * * *

Four state winners in the Interscholastic League contests talk over their trip to Austin May 3-6. Standing are Charlotte Crain, second place winner in copy reading and fifth place winner in editorial writing, and Carol Holman, fourth place winner in essay writing. Seated are Melvin Cunningham, who won third in pole vault, and Harlie Adams, fifth place winner in the 880-yard run.

Four Canyon High School students competed and won in the State Interscholastic League meet at Austin May 4-5.

Charlotte Crain, Carol Holman, Harlie Adams, and Melvin Cunningham were the winners who represented Canyon High. Charles Neblett and Elston Burkham failed to qualify for the finals.

Carol was fourth in essay writing. Charlotte won second in copy reading and fifth in editorial writing, and Harlie was fifth in the 880-yard run. Melvin was in a four-way tie for third in the pole vault.

Carol Holman captured fourth in the essay contest. The subject she chose to write upon was "Education Outside the Classroom." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry E. Holman, 2007 Seventh Avenue. Carol is a member of the Science Club, National Honor Society and Future Teachers of America.

Charlotte is the editor of the school annual, "Soaring Wings," and was first semester editor of The Eagle's Tale. This year she was named Football Queen. Last year she was a member of the Junior Who's Who. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Newton Crain, 804 Fourth Avenue.

Melvin was captain of the basketball team this year. He also made All-District in basketball. He was in the cast of the junior and senior plays. He was elected senior class favorite. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cunningham, 2305 First Avenue.

Harlie was co-captain of the track team and chairman of the Junior Red Cross. He was named Player of the Week by the Amarillo Daily News for his play in the Muleshoe football game, and set a new regional record for the 880-yard run this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adams, 302 Fifth Avenue.

Bright Directs Festival Choirs

The annual music festival of Canyon High and Junior High School Choirs, under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark and Mrs. Hope Rusk, was held May 4 in the Education auditorium. Dr. Houston Bright, choral director at WT, was guest director.

Joe E. Gibson, superintendent of Canyon Public Schools, introduced the choirs. The program was concluded with the combined singing of "God Bless America."

The Canyon High School Mixed Choir began the program with the singing of "Ours Is the World," "Heavenly Light" and "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," with Dr. Bright directing. The girls chorus which won a rating of one in regional contest sang "Lord, to Thee Our Hearts Are Raised," "My Lord, What a Mornin'," and "Nocturne," with Dr. Bright as director.

The ensemble, accompanied by Fanita Marshall, sang their rendition of "For Music." The voice class sang "My Prayer" and "Autumn Leaves." Janet Taylor accompanied the group. The sextet of CHS sang "The Chestnut Tree." Fanita Marshall also accompanied this group.

Three junior high choirs and the junior high ensemble brought forth their rendition of many songs, too.

The sixth grade chorus sang "Carmencita," "Shaloam Haverim," a Jewish song, and "Marching Song For a United World," a Russian song. There is a membership of 100 in this choir.

The seventh grade chorus, accompanied by Dorothy Higdon, selected "Now Is the Hour" and "Bless This House."

The eighth grade chorus, arrayed in new gray robes, sang "God, Be In My Head," "Cotton-eyed Joe," and "Praise, We Sing to Thee." Mrs. Patsy Crossman, student director from West Texas State College, was accompanist.

The junior high ensemble sang "Glorious Appollo" and "Wonderful One." Mrs. Crossman directed the group.

Climaxing the program was the high school and eighth grade choirs, under the direction of Dr. Bright, singing Negro spirituals, "Keep An Eye On Me" and "Where in the World."

An owl, which has been identified as a Poor-Will, is recuperating in the science lab from a broken wing. Evidently injured by a car, the bird was too weak to eat for the first four days but is making a rapid recovery.

Mrs. Joseph Findley is the science instructor for Canyon High.

Faculty Defeats Senior Hoopsters

Ignoring the whistle blowing and yelling of the enraged officials, six seniors and two faculty substitutes rushed out onto the floor to cause a mass of confusion between 18 players during the annual senior-faculty basketball game on May 8 in the Canyon High gym.

The game, which was won by the faculty, 37-19, was a thriller from beginning to end; however, the faculty gained an early lead over the seniors and their lead was never seriously threatened.

Substitution throughout the game was somewhat unorthodox with players running on and off the court at random. At several times the officials stopped the game because there were too many players on the floor.

The seniors, with strong reserve strength, seemed to be having a bad night as they had difficulty scoring in the first half. Meanwhile, the faculty with only two substitutes were able to score at will.

High scorers for the winners were Johnny Ussery with 10 and Lynn Hulsey with 8, while Garland Ruthart with 8 and Jerome Edwards with 5 were high men for the seniors.

Other players for the faculty were Wheelock, T. L. Devin, Richardson, Luther Lawless, Fonti, and L. H. Brotherton. Playing for the seniors were Eugene Boston, Eulen Whitten, Edward Hinders, Joe Carver, Dick Irvine, Don Duncan, Hubert Green, Jack Campbell and Bobby Phillips.

Senior lettermen were officials for the game.

Picnickers Invade Palo Duro Canyon

It is picnicking time again, and the Canyon High School students, teachers and room parents celebrated with the annual all-school picnic May 11, in Palo Canyon.

The group left the high school at 8:45 a. m. and returned in time for buses to run at 3:30 p. m. While at the park students entertained themselves climbing hills, playing volleyball, baseball, washers and pitching horseshoes.

For lunch each class was served chicken salad and pimiento cheese sandwiches, deviled eggs, potato chips, cup cakes, ice cream and soda pop.

The outing was sponsored by the Student-Faculty Congress, and Mr. Battle Harris, school supplies salesman, provided cold water for everyone.

Program Explains Armed Services

Highlighting the responsibility of America's young men in serving in any branch of the armed forces, representatives from the Army and Navy spoke to the junior and senior boys of CHS in a program held in the auditorium at 7:30 on April 30.

Theme of the program was "My Life and the Armed Forces," and the importance of staying in school as long as possible was stressed by the speakers.

Advantages and disadvantages of being in the service and the different ways to enter the service were also discussed. It was pointed out that every young man's service obligation was six years, two active, four reserve, and two inactive reserve.

Science Classes Take Field Trip

The chemistry and physics classes took a field trip to the Amarillo Texaco Refinery and the helium plant on May 2.

In the morning the students toured the refinery and watched the refining processes. Later they dined in Thompson Park. During the afternoon the future scientists viewed the helium plant.

At the refinery, the students toured the boiler room and the various refining sections. They also saw the first aid station, the chemical laboratory and a small display, which explained how petroleum is refined. Cokes were given the guests.

A liquid air show was the highlight of the tour of the helium plant. To get helium, natural gas has all elements but the helium turned to a liquid. These elements are very cold and can even be boiled by the heat that is present in water.

FHA Hears Report on State Meet; Class Takes Annual Field Trips

The Canyon Chapter of Future Homemaking of America met in the high school cafeteria May 8.

Campaign speeches were given for the girls who were eligible for the award. They were Vanda Latham, junior; Faye Lowrey, senior; Debra McDonald, junior; Theresa Mickey, junior; and Marcus Robinson, junior. These girls received state homemaker's degrees at the recent state meeting in Fort Worth.

All girls who win this award receive special recognition by having their names engraved on a special plaque in the main hall of the high school. The award was first given last year to Janis Wright.

Other business carried out at the meeting was report of the state FHA meeting by the Canyon delegates who attended.

The Homemaking III morning class took the yearly field trip to Amarillo May 1 as part of the study of interior decorating. While in Amarillo they toured several furniture and upholstering stores. Another activity of this class was visiting the new homes of Mrs. K. L. Britt and Mrs. Roy Lyles.

Members of this class are Arlene Bagley, Doris Cooper, Rosalie Frische, June Gressett, Eva Howard, Theresa Mickey, Faye Lowrey, Gwen Newberry, Betty Jane Stephens, Christina Sikes, Juanell Sweet, Virginia Walker, Sybil Welch, and Karel Johnson.

Probationary NHS Members Selected

Probationary members in the National Honor Society of Canyon High School were announced Monday, May 7.

Sophomores with outstanding records in leadership, character, service and scholarship are elected to probationary membership in the spring. At mid-year of the next school year session, if these students are still eiigible, they may be elected to regular membership.

Elected to probationary membership were Deon Anthony, Edwin Boswell, Barbara Brown, Emma Coleman, Jim Fanning, Rita Grabbe, Alan Hanks, Pat Hardaway, Beverly Henson, Louise Higdon, Gwen Kelso, Mary Gladys Marshall, Arthor Lee Pruett.

Joy Rose, Joyce Shelnutt, Rachel Smith, Janet Taylor, Gayle Welch, John Robert Wheelock, Dana Wilbanks, Connie Wilkins, Carrol Wright and Boz Zachry.

What Is the Value Of Social Security?

Are you going to work this summer?

If you are and you don't have a social security card, you had better get one now. It isn't long until school will be out and you will be looking for that summer job.

A social security account number is worth thousands of dollars of old-age and survivors insurance protection to you. Always be sure that your present employer has the exact number printed on your card.

If you are one of the many who do not have a social security card, you may obtain an application for one at the local post office. Get one now before you need it.

OH, DOCTOR

It was a wet and bitterly cold night when Dr. Lucas was called to the home of Farmer Smithers. The head of the household was down with a severe cold threatened to turn into pneumonia.

"All he wants, all he can think of," reported his faithful wife, "is hot punch."

"All right," the doctor agreed. "Let him have it. Fix it up and let me see it."

In a little while Mrs. Smithers came into the bedroom, bearing a large bowl of smoking punch. The doctor examined, smelled it, then drank it down.

"Yes, that's just right," he agreed, smacking his lips. "Now go back and make him one exactly like it — but only half as much."

It is only a matter of time before Yale University becomes coeducational. So says professor Thomas C. Mendenhall, Yale's associate professor of history. He cautions that the school has changed in recent years and that its "cloistered atmosphere" cannot be recaptured.

Better business outlook is foreseen in second half of year.

Bandsters Picnic At Buffalo Lake

Bandsters and sponsors traveled to Buffalo Lake May 7 for their annual picnic. Transportation was provided by Canyon High School.

Band members went hiking, and viewed the "not too alive" fish that were on the shore. Barbecue ham was consumed by about 25 members and the sponsors.

Sponsors attending were Mrs. Jack Barnard, Mrs. F. D. Barnhill, Mrs. E. L. Hardaway, Mrs. Otto Samuelson and Herman Demus.

CHS Senior Girls Attend Reception

The Canyon branch of the American Association of University Women gave a formal reception May 7 at 7:30 in Cousins Hall at West Texas State College for the graduate girls of Canyon High and the college.

Mrs. Lowell Harrison, president of the local chapter, introduced Mrs. Ruth Johnson of the Amarillo branch of AAUW. How they decide on members, present programs and further education possibilities in the United States and abroad were discussed. Anyone who graduates from West Texas State College is eligible to become a member of AAUW.

Women presiding at the receiving line were Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Sara Schlass and Mrs. Dan Sanders.

Mrs. Glenn Dowlen played the piano during the reception and Mrs. Darthula Walker served at the punch bowl.

CANDID COMMENT

The music teacher was proudly presenting her pupils in a recital. After the extended musical program, ice cream, cake, and fruit were served. One of the young musicians had brought her little brother along as a guest.

As the youngster was taking his departure, the teacher asked: "Well, Jimmie, did you enjoy the recital?"

"I sure did," Jimmie replied, "that is, all but the music."

April Highway Slaughter Doubles March Death Totals in Panhandle

The slaughter of humans on highways in the Panhandle took a big jump in April, with 11 people killed and 70 injured.

The death figure was more than twice that of March and of April, 1955. Thus far this year, 27 people have been killed and 233 injured.

According to a report issued by the Highway Patrol, speeding was the first principal cause of the wrecks in April. Other causes, in order, were driving while drinking, failure to grant right of way, following too closely and driving on the wrong side of the road not in passing.

During April there were 81 wrecks that caused an estimated $59,930 in property damage. The money loss during the entire year has been $260,494.

The 27 patrolmen of the district made 837 arrests during the month, 343 of which were for speeding and 24 for driving while intoxicated. The patrolmen worked 4232 hours during the day and 2319 at night and traveled 75,041 miles.

IMPUDENCE

Her car had been parked beside a fireplug for three hours. As she unlocked the door and got in, a policeman who had been waiting for the culprit to appear, sauntered over and remarked:

"I been waiting a long time for you. What's your name?"

She smiled her sweetest, and as she put her foot on the starter, replied: "It wouldn't do you any good if I told you. You look like a nice boy, but my husband is about twice your size and very jealous."
